

ANOTHER PEACE KITE IN RAIL STRIKE TO FLY

Belief Current That Government Will Make Another Attempt.

REASON IS GIVEN

"Misunderstanding" Was Cause of Failure of Last Meeting

Washington, August 4.—President Harding met with his cabinet today for another inventory of the industrial situation, admitted by government officials generally to be daily growing more serious and more dangerous in its potentialities.

Today's meeting was the sixth consecutive session that has been devoted entirely to discussion of the rail and coal strikes and methods of remedying them.

It was not considered probable there would be any decisive action by the government in the coal strike the tendency being to await the results of the efforts John L. Lewis is making to settle the four months tie up by means of a joint conference with operators in Cleveland on Monday.

In the rail strike, however, it was strongly intimated, in cabinet quarters today there would be important developments within 24 hours, and the belief was prevalent that another peace thrust is imminent.

Conditions in the railroad field were officially described today as being "intolerable" to the already chaotic condition that prevails in some sections, was added today the menace of the disaffection spreading to other classes of railroad workers besides the shopmen, who up to this time have had no part in the strike.

Labor leaders asserted today that the summary turn down given President Harding's peace program by the executives in New York has had a tremendous effect upon all railroad labor, creating a state of resentment and suspicion that is daily becoming more apparent. The dissatisfaction has been increased among those still working by the deterioration of equipment—noticeably among the four powerful brotherhoods.

Lending color to the intimations of another peace move being impending were reports current today in high quarters that the failure of the president's original peace program was due entirely to a "regrettable misunderstanding."

It will be remembered that President Harding and his cabinet advisers considered the rail strike "as good as settled" when the unions met in Chicago and the executives in New York last Tuesday.

What happened, according to the story told in authoritative quarters today was this:

Jewell came to Washington with a program calling for return to work with seniority rights of the strikers fully restored.

President Harding suggested that this be changed to allow those shopmen, who had remained at work to keep the seniority rights to which they had succeeded by reason of their walkout.

Jewell demurred but said he would have to talk it over with his conferees. Meantime Cuyler, of the executives, called at the White House and the president informed him of the status of the case. Cuyler, according to the story, expressed the opinion that such a program as the president had suggested would prove acceptable to a majority of the roads. He then left Washington to spend the week end in Philadelphia.

Jewell in the meantime, had conferred with his union associates and decided to stick out for full seniority rights, and after another conference with Mr. Harding the matter was finally left that way.

Cuyler went to the executives' meeting under the impression the seniority matter had been agreed upon as allowing the old workers to retain the seniority rights to which they had succeeded.

Jewell went to the union meeting under the impression that the strikers were to have their seniority rights fully restored.

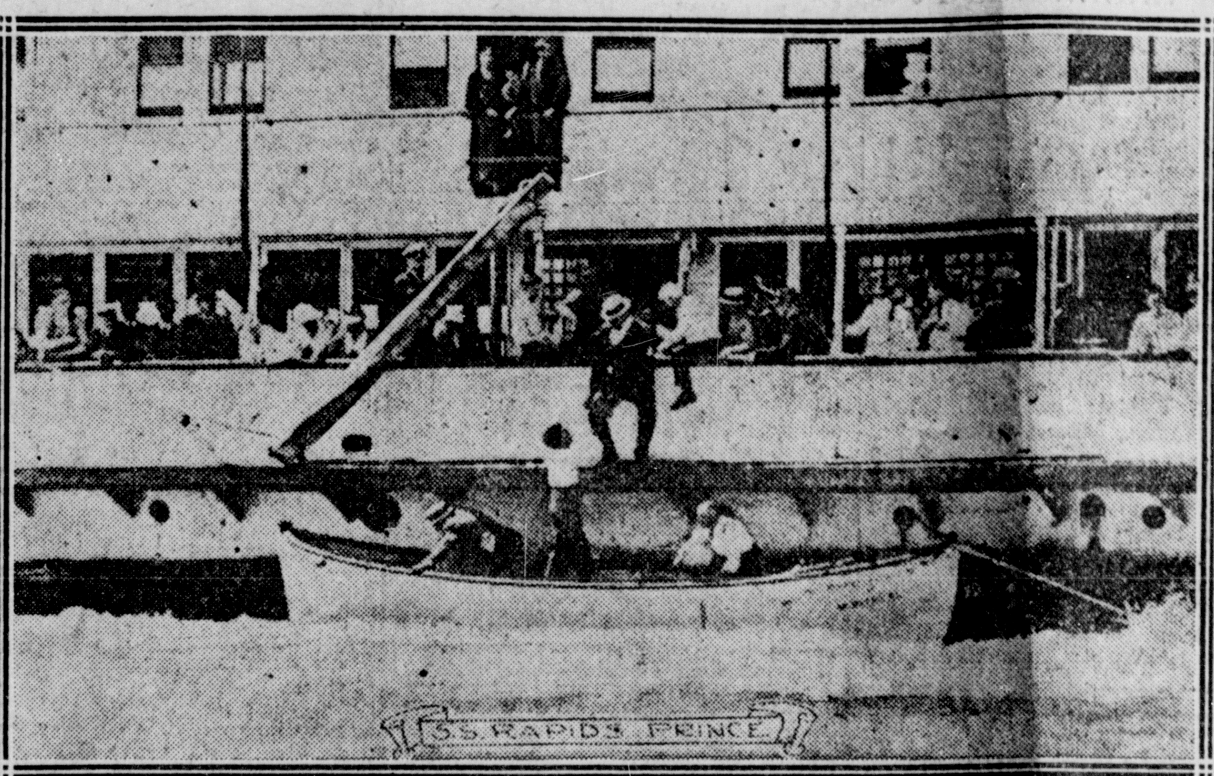

The president's message to both camps stated the strikers were to return to work with their "seniority rights unimpaired."

There is lay the misunderstanding, according to the story current today and with only this point of difference between the two camps government officials were hopeful that renewed peace efforts would be more successful.

Washington, August 4.—One of the greatest barriers to American recognition of the Obregon government was removed here today.

The Mexican embassy delivered to the state department certified copies of five decisions rendered by the Mexican supreme court to the effect that the famous article 27 of the Carranza constitution is not retroactive and cannot be used to confiscate American properties.

Acceptance of Ford's Shoals Offer Urged; Possibility of Trade War Heralded

Seven Members of Senate Agriculture Committee Recommend That Offer Be Accepted—Development Plan Might Be Means to Avoid Future Paralysis.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Heralding a gigantic trade war between Henry Ford and the industrial trusts of America, seven members of the senate agriculture committee today recommended absolute acceptance by the senate of his offer for development of the government's $200,000,000 nitrate and water power project at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

The seven senators, submitting a minority report, brought Ford one step nearer realization of his dream of an economic revival throughout the south. The report was the second submitted by members of the committee, a previous one having urged government ownership.

Hinting frequently, that Ford would launch a trade war if he obtained a lease to the government's great water project, the report at one place openly linked him in a battle of industrial elimination with the Aluminum Company of America. It expressly declared Ford would "compete in the manufacture of electric-furnace products with such concerns as the Aluminum Company of America.

The report declared Ford's development of the project might bring a means to avoid future paralysis of American industry through breakdown in the fuel and transportation systems. It specifically declared such great hydro-electric power as is found at Muscle Shoals is the only certain and permanent relief in the future from the present paralysis of American industry.

The report, written by Senator Edwin F. Ladd, Republican, North Dakota, was signed by two Republicans and five Democrats. It branded the Norris plan of government ownership as an "extravagant waste," and declared Ford's offer alone gave American people an opportunity to benefit from the great natural resources at Muscle Shoals. It was signed by Ladd, Senator Capper, Republican, Kansas and Chairman of the senate agriculture "bloc" and five Democrats: Senators Smith of South Carolina; Ransdell of Louisiana; Harrison, Mississippi; Heflin, Alabama, and Caraway, of Arkansas.

The Ford advocates declared acceptance of his proposal would result in a monster water power development at Muscle Shoals which would be "comparable only to Niagara Falls." They contend his great mechanical genius directed to plants at Muscle Shoals would "pass on direct to the American people great industrial economies."

The report went into detail concerning attempts to dispose of the project after the war. It was declared every great fertilizer company had refused to operate the project for the government without obligations and even at an offer of nine per cent profit.

Throughout the report the senators dwelt with comparison. In parallel columns they pointed out alleged defects in the government operation and the benefits derived from the Ford offer.

In conclusion they compared the Ford proposal to the subsidy bill declaring that to reject Ford's offer would be to sound a death knell to a merchant marine subsidy.

Summing up their reasons for urging acceptance of Ford's offer, the seven senators declared Ford, if given the project, would:

- 1—Contribute a great war plant to the national defense.
- 2—Provide for large scale production of fertilizer at reduced costs.
- 3—Reduce the cost of hydro-electric power to levels now existing in Canada and Norway where great natural water power projects abound.
- 4—Develop a great inland waterway through the Tennessee Valley.
- 5—Create a great industrial center at Muscle Shoals.

Fairgrounds At Columbus Scene Of $600,000 Blaze

Fire, Believed Due to Spontaneous Combustion, Consumes Six Buildings Constituting Central Group Early Friday

Columbus, August 4.—Fire, believed due to spontaneous combustion, at the State Fairgrounds here this morning resulted in an estimated loss of $600,000. Five firemen were injured while fighting the flames. Six buildings, constituting the central group were destroyed. The fire is believed to have originated in the paint shop in the highway building.

The fire was discovered about 5 o'clock. Four alarms were sent in, to which 11 fire companies responded. Early efforts to fight the blaze were handicapped by insufficient water pressure. The blaze was gotten under control at 7:30 a. m.

The six buildings gutted by the fire are: West Administration, east administration, agriculture, horticulture, manufacturing and highway.

The Columbus Real Estate Board recently appraised the destroyed buildings at $225,000, but director of agriculture Taber declared "it will cost $600,000 to replace them."

The fire caused a total loss as no insurance is carried on state-owned buildings, according to a state official.

Fireman James D. Sims was removed to Grant hospital. His left ankle was broken by falling timber. Other firemen receiving lesser injuries included John A. Edgington, head cut by slate; Russell Corbin, right shoulder burned; Thomas Harp, overcome by heat and Ellis Reed, right leg bruised.

"The fire will not stop us from having just as big a fair this year as originally planned," declared State Fair Manager E. J. Wilson.

"Of course readjustment on display space and other details arising from the loss of the buildings are to be solved."

The fire was practically out at 9:30.

State troops stationed on the fairgrounds furnished first aid to the injured firemen, kept back the thousands of spectators attracted by the conflagration and aided in removing property including a tank containing 300 gallons of gasoline, and other equipment, including trucks, belonging to the state highway department.

After making an investigation, State officials expressed the belief that the fire originated in a paint mixer in the east end of the administration building.

BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT IS BROUGHT AGAINST WOODWARD

Former Secretary to George Creel Brings Action In New York.

New York, August 4.—Letters couched in ardent terms of affection will be introduced as exhibits in a breach of promise suit filed today by Miss Edith L. Ransom, beautiful former secretary to George Creel, director of the government information bureau during the world war, against John B. Woodward, Miss Ransom, who is only 23 years of age, asked for $100,000 damages.

Mr. Woodward is 60 years of age and is said to conduct an advertising agency in this city for western newspapers. He has offices in the Times building and when in this city lives at the Dearborn apartments. Miss Ransom declared that Mr. Woodward first promised to marry her on Sunday evening, June 20, 1920, while the two were dining together at the hotel Majestic in Chicago. The following October she avers, Mr. Woodward renewed his promise and told her the marriage would take place Christmas day. Time went on, and finally about two months ago Woodward was alleged to have told Miss Ransom that he would never marry her under any circumstances.

Miss Ransom introduced some of the letters with the papers in the suit when it was filed in supreme court.

Mr. Woodward, who is a widower with grown children, was served with papers in the case at his offices.

CHARGES ATTEMPT AGAINST TARIFF MADE BY PAPERS

Senator Gooding Condemns Frank A. Munsey On Alleged Stand.

Washington, August 4.—Bitterly condemning Frank A. Munsey, New York publisher, and a number of great metropolitan newspapers, Senator Gooding, Republican Idaho, chairman of the senate tariff "bloc," today charged opposition to the Cumber tariff bill was caused principally by attempts of American international bankers to liquidate the $400,000,000 estate of Arch Duke Frederick of Austria.

Gooding charged the New York Herald, Boston Herald, Chicago Tribune, Cleveland Plain Dealer, St. Louis Globe Democrat, New York Times, New York Post and Minneapolis Tribune were attempting to "sell America to European manufacturers and merchants." He declared these papers were "interested in the defeat of a protective tariff."

ADVANCE GUARD TO ARRIVE FOR COAL MEETING

Miners and Operators Are Expected in Cleveland Late Friday.

OHIO REPRESENTED

Predict 80 Per Cent of Coal Field of This State Will Have Delegates.

Cleveland, August 4.—The advance guard of miners and operators in the central competitive field, consisting of Western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, are expected to arrive in Cleveland late today for the joint conference called for Monday by President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers in America and having in view the adoption of a wage scale which will permit the resumption of coal mining in the Union fields.

Despite the refusal of the Pittsburgh Operators Association at Pittsburgh and the Southern Ohio Coal Exchange at Columbus, to be officially represented at the gathering, members of the Pittsburgh Vein Operators' Association, which maintains headquarters here, predicted that individual members of both of these operators' organizations as well as representatives of all other organizations in the central field, and the many independent operators would be present here or accept the findings of the conference.

With official acceptance of the invitation to participate sent by the Pittsburgh Vein Operators Association, yesterday, to President Lewis it was said here that at least 80 per cent of the Ohio coal fields would be represented at the meeting.

THINK CONFERENCE OF PREMIERS WILL BE UNSUCCESSFUL

Anglo-French Leaders To Plunge Into Debt and Indemnity Problems

London, Aug. 4.—The eighth anniversary today of England's entrance into the world war found the victors leading a rocky road beneath a gathering cloud of pessimism, that the Lloyd George-Poincare conference next week will fail.

The Anglo-French premiers, accompanied by representatives of Belgium and Italy, will plunge into the double problem of German indemnity and inter-allied debts Monday.

Although it had been reported that the French were prepared to cut down German indemnity to 50,000,000,000 gold marks ($12,000,000,000) if Great Britain and the United States would cancel the debt, owing to them by France it is believed unlikely that M. Poincare will be prepared to go that far.

A clear idea of the attitude England will take was given by Premier Lloyd George in commons when he said that, while Britain is willing for a general annulment of war debts the British taxpayers could not stand the burden that would be imposed by partial cancellation.

The Lloyd George speech was received with enthusiasm by the press. The premier's failure to mention the United States was interpreted as an indication that the Balfour note was not intended as pressure to force the United States to cancel debts owing to her by the European allies.

KNIGHT DECLARES THOMPSON AIDED

Cincinnati, August 4.—Charges that the brewers, the anti-saloon league and the Republican political bosses have allied themselves to capture the state government through nominating Carmel Thompson for governor were made last night by Congressman C. L. Knight, who spoke at the Alms hotel and the Hyde Park Country Club here.

The speaker was nothing if not clear as to whom he had in mind, naming Maurice Maschke, of Cleveland, R. K. Hynicka, of Cincinnati, and Harry M. Daugherty, U. S. attorney general among the moving spirits of the "triple alliance." He said the brewers had been brought into line for Thompson because the attorney general was permitting them to operate openly.

AVIATOR WILL ATTEMPT FLIGHT ACROSS COUNTRY

San Antonio, Tex., August 4.—Lieut. James H. Doolittle, hopped off at Kelly field at 6:30 o'clock this morning for Jacksonville, Fla. Lieut. Doolittle, who is stationed at Kelly field, has announced his intention of making a cross-country flight from Jacksonville to Rockwell field, San Diego, Cal.

He will try to make the flight with only one stop—Kelly field—for oil and gas. He is using a De-Havilland plane.

JOHNSON RESIGNS HIS POSITION ON HIGH OHIO COURT

Candidate For Nomination For Governor Sees Illegality.

Columbus, August 4.—Judicial services to the state covering a span of 11 years have been brought to a close by Judge James G. Johnson, Springfield, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, by resigning from the State Supreme Court. Judge Johnson's resignation is effective immediately.

As a gubernatorial candidate, Johnson, believes that, according to a constitutional provision, he legally could receive no votes in the coming primaries, so long as he remained a member of the supreme court.

Judge Johnson was the sole Democrat on the State Supreme Court bench. His resignation leaves a solid Republican court.

No indication has been given by Governor Davis as to who will be appointed to fill Judge Johnson's place. State officials declared the logical course would be for the governor to delay his selection until after August 8, and then appoint one of two Republicans to be nominated for the State Supreme Court to fill the vacancy.

IRISH IRREGULAR FORCES LOSE MEN IN AN OFFENSIVE

DeValera Reported Deposed As Commander In Chief Of Rebels.

Dublin, August 4.—Four Republican irregulars were killed and ten were wounded in an attack against a free state outpost near Limerick today. The advance of the free state troops continues but the rebels are fighting desperately with their backs to the wall.

Free state forces have captured Carrick-on-Suir, where Eamonn DeValera had hoped to make a stand; also Callan, Mullinahoe, Kilmogany and Windgap. Three hundred irregulars fled from Carrick on Suir after setting the place on fire and blowing up the bridges.

It is reported that DeValera has been deposed as commander-in-chief of the irregular army and that his place has been taken by Erskine Childers.

Irregulars have been driven from Butler's town, and from the region of Waterford castle.

The landing of free state troops at Kerry will likely hasten the retreat of the rebels toward Cork as they will be under pressure from two sides.

CHICAGO BOY DROWNED IN BUCKEYE LAKE THURSDAY

Ditter and family of Dayton, O., went to sleep while sitting on a pier near the flume gate at noon yesterday and fell into the water and was drowned. The body was not recovered until late last night, and will be shipped to Chicago today.

WILL COMPLAIN ROADS OPERATE WORN ENGINES

Allege "Perilous Condition" of Rolling Stock Now Being Used.

LAW VIOLATION

Claim Laxity In Enforcing Federal Statutes—Appeal To Congress.

Cleveland, August 4.—A warning that the Big Four railroad brotherhoods would not be able to operate trains much longer under present conditions was wired to President Harding today by Timothy Shea, vice president of the brotherhood of locomotive firemen and engineers, it was revealed here today.

Shea refused to give out the text of the message, but said thirty per cent of the locomotives are now out of service and within less than a month 40 per cent additional will be in such a condition as to be dangerous to operate.

"Irresponsible guards" maintained by railroad companies also added to the dangers faced by men in train service, Shea said.

"The very life of all railroad unions is involved in the present strike of shopcrafts union," he said. "If the shopmen are crushed, what else can the big four expect but similar treatment when the opportunity comes."

"After disposing of the shopmen they will take up the case of the weaker organizations and then we'll get ours."

Washington, August 4.—Drastic action by the "big four" of the railway brotherhoods is imminent as a result of the alleged "perilous condition" of rolling stock on the railroads, brotherhood leaders in Washington told the international News Service today. They charged defective locomotives are being operated by the railroads in violation of federal laws.

According to information reaching labor circles here today, officials of the "big four" transportation brotherhoods and of the railroad clerks, telegraphers and maintenance of way employees, will come to Washington within the next few days to protest to President Harding against the condition of locomotives.

At the same time it became known that labor leaders are gathering data for an energetic protest to congress and it is possible an investigation of the interstate Commerce Commission will be asked for its alleged laxity in enforcing federal laws.

"Our engineers in many instances are being coaxed to drive locomotives that are badly in need of repairs as a result of the shopmen's strike and in some cases they are not only being coaxed but threatened with punishment if they do not drive the engines," said H. E. Willis, vice president of the brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

"This is in direct violation of the agreement, entered into in Chicago several weeks ago between the Brotherhoods and the executives providing that no engineer should be called or compelled to operate a defective locomotive."

"There is dynamite under the whole locomotive situation. 'Action probably will be taken within a few days.'"

Willis is the representative in Washington of Warren S. Stone, president of the brotherhood of locomotive engineers, with headquarters in Cleveland.

"Indications are now," Willis continued, "that engineers and firemen and even the conductors are being submitted to conditions which they cannot much longer endure."

A veritable flood of complaints from engineers has begun to pour in upon local chairmen, who in turn are communicating the complaints to headquarters in Cleveland.

A number of senators are in receipt of appeals from engineers and from other organizations especially in the west, calling upon them to demand investigation of the alleged violation of laws in the non-retirement of locomotives that are a menace to lives and property.

A warning is expected to be issued within a few days by the brotherhood headquarters in Cleveland, addressed to the railroad management and to the interstate commerce commission. At the same time there will be lodged with President Harding a vigorous protest against employment of defective rolling stock.

Labor headquarters in Washington indicated that the brotherhood may be forced to quit their jobs, not out of sympathy for the shopmen already on strike, but by the progressive deterioration of the motive power of the roads.

Lending color to the intimations of another peace move being impending were reports current today in high quarters that the failure of the president's original peace program was due entirely to a "regrettable misunderstanding."

It will be remembered that President Harding and his cabinet advisers considered the rail strike "as good as settled" when the unions met in Chicago and the executives in New York last Tuesday.

What happened, according to the story told in authoritative quarters today was this:

Jewell came to Washington with a program calling for return to work with seniority rights of the strikers fully restored.

President Harding suggested that this be changed to allow those shopmen, who had remained at work to keep the seniority rights to which they had succeeded by reason of their walkout.

Jewell demurred but said he would have to talk it over with his conferees. Meantime Cuyler, of the executives, called at the White House and the president informed him of the status of the case. Cuyler, according to the story, expressed the opinion that such a program as the president had suggested would prove acceptable to a majority of the roads. He then left Washington to spend the week end in Philadelphia.

Jewell in the meantime, had conferred with his union associates and decided to stick out for full seniority rights, and after another conference with Mr. Harding the matter was finally left that way.

Cuyler went to the executives' meeting under the impression the seniority matter had been agreed upon as allowing the old workers to retain the seniority rights to which they had succeeded.

Jewell went to the union meeting under the impression that the strikers were to have their seniority rights fully restored.

The president's message to both camps stated the strikers were to return to work with their "seniority rights unimpaired."

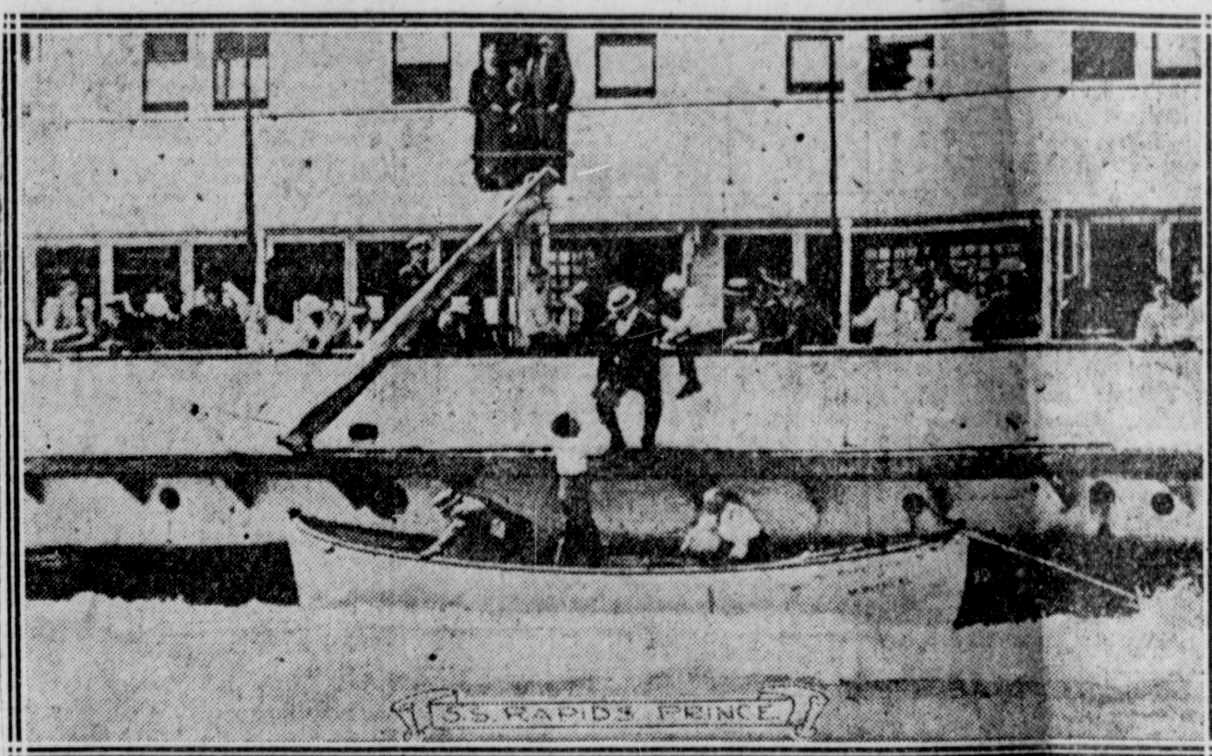

There is lay the misunderstanding, according to the story current today and with only this point of difference between the two camps government officials were hopeful that renewed peace efforts would be more successful.

Dublin, August 4.—Four Republican irregulars were killed and ten were wounded in an attack against a free state outpost near Limerick today. The advance of the free state troops continues but the rebels are fighting desperately with their backs to the wall.

Free state forces have captured Carrick-on-Suir, where Eamonn DeValera had hoped to make a stand; also Callan, Mullinaboe, Kilmogany and Windgap. Three hundred irregulars fled from Carrick on Suir after setting the place on fire and blowing up the bridges.

It is reported that DeValera has been deposed as commander-in-chief of the irregular army and that his place has been taken by Eersine Childers.

Irregulars have been driven from Butler's town, and from the region of Waterford castle.

The landing of free state troops at Kerry will likely hasten the retreat of the rebels toward Cork as they will be under pressure from two sides.

The body was not recovered until late last night and will be shipped to Chicago today.

WILL COMPLAIN ROADS OPERATE WORN ENGINES

Allege "Perilous Condition" of Rolling Stock Now Being Used.

LAW VIOLATION

Claim Laxity In Enforcing Federal Statutes—Appeal To Congress.

Cleveland, August 4.—A warning that the Big Four railroad brotherhoods would not be able to operate trains much longer under present conditions was wired to President Harding today by Timothy Shea, vice president, of the brotherhood of locomotive firemen and engineers, it was revealed here today.

Shea refused to give out the text of the message, but said thirty per cent of the locomotives are now out of service and within less than a month 40 per cent additional will be in such a condition as to be dangerous to operate.

"Irresponsible guards" maintained by railroad companies also added to the dangers faced by men in train service, Shea said.

"The very life of all railroad unions is involved in the present strike of shopcrafts union," he said. "If the shopmen are crushed, what else can the big four expect but similar treatment when the opportunity comes."

"After disposing of the shopmen they will take up the case of the weaker organizations and then we'll get ours."

Washington, August 4.—Drastic action by the "big four" of the railway brotherhoods is imminent as a result of the alleged "perilous condition" of rolling stock on the railroads, brotherhood leaders in Washington told the International News Service today. They charged defective locomotives are being operated by the railroads in violation of federal laws.

According to information reaching labor circles here today, officials of the "big four" transportation brotherhoods and of the railroad clerks, telegraphers and maintenance of way employees, will come to Washington within the next few days to protest to President Harding against the condition of locomotives.

At the same time it became known that labor leaders are gathering data for an energetic protest to congress and it is possible an investigation of the Interstate Commerce Commission will be asked for its alleged laxity in enforcing federal laws.

"Our engineers in many instances are being coaxed to drive locomotives that are badly in need of repairs as a result of the shopmen's strike and in some cases they are not only being coaxed but threatened with punishment if they do not drive the engines," said H. E. Willis, vice president of the brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

"This is in direct violation of the agreement entered into in Chicago several weeks ago between the Brotherhoods and the executives providing that no engineer should be called or compelled to operate a defective locomotive."

"There is dynamite under the whole locomotive situation."

"Action probably will be taken within a few days."

Willis is the representative in Washington of Warren S. Stone, president of the brotherhood of locomotive engineers, with headquarters in Cleveland.

"Indications are now," Willis continued, "that engineers and firemen and even the conductors are being submitted to conditions which they cannot much longer endure."

A veritable flood of complaints from engineers has begun to pour in upon local chairmen, who in turn are communicating the complaints to headquarters in Cleveland.

A number of senators are in receipt of appeals from engineers and from other organizations especially in the west, calling upon them to demand investigation of the alleged violation of laws in the non-retirement of locomotives that are a menace to lives and property.

A warning is expected to be issued within a few days by the brotherhood's headquarters in Cleveland, addressed to the railroad management and to the interstate commerce commission. At the same time there will be lodged with President Harding a vigorous protest against employment of defective rolling stock.

Labor headquarters in Washington indicated that the brotherhood may be forced to quit their jobs, not out of sympathy for the shopmen already on strike, but by the progressive deterioration of the motive power of the roads.

RACING FANS SEE 2:11 PACE TAKEN BY JAKIE O'CONNOR

Thousands of racing fans at the County Fair races Thursday crowded a new equine hero by popular acclaim.

Jakie O'Connor, bay gelding by Barney O'Connor, owned by J. F. Cartmel, of Hanover, received the plaudits and praises of the multitude when he won the 2:11 pace, the only straight heat race of the meeting so far, stepping the last mile in 2:09 1-4.

The O'Connor speeder proved himself to be about the fastest mile to appear on the local twice-around for many a season. Heralded in advance by his performance of 2:06 1-4 at Columbus last week, the bugs kept their eyes on Cartmel's entry, and were not disappointed. Although he was distinctly out of his class and not pressed seriously at any time, the side-wheeler gave his admirers a little exhibition of his speed in the final heat. Little Grattan, Lady Glover and The Poorman, all took a whirl at the heels of the flying pacer with the Celtic name, being unable to touch him.

In spite of a noble effort to even up the speed program Thursday, two races hang over for Thursday afternoon's card, and the speeders were again called to start at 12 o'clock. The unfinished races of Wednesday, the 2:25 pace, the 2:22 trot and the 2:11 pace, were all finished Thursday, and the 2:18 trot, a Thursday event, was completed. The holdovers are in the 2:14 trot, of which three heats have been run and the 2:17 pace, which has gone five heats with four different heat winners.

Although he had two heats sewed up Wednesday, Urban had to lead his 25 pacer Mary Lou out six times before he finally pulled down first money in the unfinished races. Urban was second with the little mare the third, fourth and fifth times out, but won in slow time in competition with heat-winners only in the sixth attempt. Lilly Bell wound up the 22 trot in four heats, by taking the two hold-over heats in that event.

Although the 2:18 trot, went five heats, everything went the way of Bonnie, little mare driven by Goggin. The Bonnie trotter finished first in initial heat but was set back to sixth position by the judges because of a break on the stretch which caused her to run part of the way. Cliff Todd drove a nice heat with his Peter Rabbit in the second heat in order to sew up second money, placing Bonnie at second, but after that the mare took the event in straight heats.

Harmony Bell fooled the wise ones in the 2:11 pace by winning the first heat, and beating the favorite Steve O'Boy, the Slaight entry. Colby Turner the "armless wonder" took the second heat with Frances D, the mare owned by Mrs. J. E. Faulkner, Xenia, while Harmony Bell finished sixth. The Roach gelding then came back and got another heat, and in the fourth Steve O'Boy came through for his first heat. In the fifth heat Billy the Kid, the big gray gelding, sprang a sensational spurt on the stretch, coping in for a win from the outside, and tying up the pace in mixed heats.

The 2:14 trot also stands in mixed heats. Emmet's Son, with Goggin up, sprang a surprise in the first heat, by winning over the favorite, Bingen Pointer, the latter finished third while Herron's entry, Treman Master, came in second. Herron drove his gelding to a first in the second heat after Ed Abrams, Bowling Green, driver of Bingen Pointer; W. N. McMillen, London, driver of Durand; Will Squires, Springfield, driver of Janet the Great, and Urban, Zanesville, who was up behind Flo V, had each been called to the judge's stand and fined $25 apiece for scoring ahead of the pole horse in that heat, after being repeatedly warned by Starting Judge F. L. Johnson.

Squires threatened to draw his trotter, then changed his mind and drove her to a third in the second heat and came back and took the third heat. Bingen Pointer finished second in the last two heats. Joe Hagler, of this city, driving Grace Todd, had had luck in the third heat of this race when his bike threw a wheel on the back stretch the first time around and he was unable to finish. He was placed ninth by the judges.

Thursday's racing began at 12 o'clock because of the uncompleted events, and although the stands were not filled up at once, by the time the races were in full swing, what was considered the largest crowd to ever attend was on hand. Good racing also marked the day, and fans were well pleased with a full afternoon of harness sport, which was called after six o'clock because of approaching darkness. The events Friday started at 12 o'clock to complete the unfinished races.

Dear Friend:

I have a personal word in behalf of Mr. Funderberg, and his office that I think I owe to him and his aids

We never called upon him or either of his deputies, Mr. Birch and Mr. Day that we did not get efficient and immediate service. Further they signed their own Search Warrants a thing that very few would do. If all Sheriffs and their deputies in the State had been as thorough and interested in the enforcement of Prohibition as Mr. Funderberg and his men there would be little need for a law enforcement campaign.

I believe the Dry people of the County owe them their support as a reward for valiant service.

Yours most cordially,

S. A. PROBST.

Dear Friend:

I have a personal word in behalf of Mr. Funderberg, and his office that I think I owe to him and his aids

We never called upon him or either of his deputies, Mr. Birch and Mr. Day that we did not get efficient and immediate service. Further they signed their own Search Warrants a thing that very few would do. If all Sheriffs and their deputies in the State had been as thorough and interested in the enforcement of Prohibition as Mr. Funderberg and his men there would be little need for a law enforcement campaign.

I believe the Dry people of the County owe them their support as a reward for valiant service.

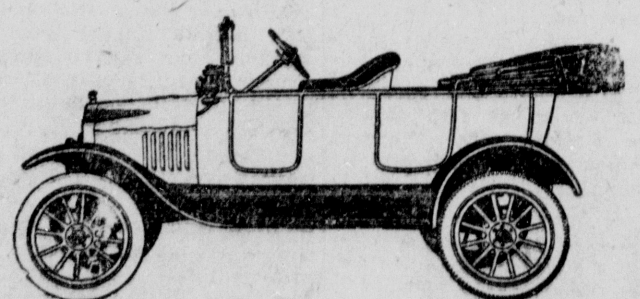

Yours most cordially,

S. A. PROPST.

Had a wife, and couldn't keep her.
Till someone told him to feed her on bread,
"Be sure you get Sally Ann," they said.
So Peter forthwith took their advice,
And now his wife is extremely nice.
Sally Ann bread will help anyone's Frame of mind. Try it.

Washington, August 4.—Just how much coal is there in the country today, above ground?

No one in Washington knows to any degree of exactness, so far as coal is concerned.

The geological survey, the new federal coal administration, the various government departments, professed not to know today, but all agreed in the opinion that the nation is at the bottom of its bin.

The best estimate the survey had was that on April 1, when the strike began, there were 68,000,000 tons in reserve.

Normal consumption is estimated at about 9,000,000 tons weekly. Production since the strike has averaged less than five million tons weekly, or four million tons short of consumption.

The strike is now in its seventeenth week. Seventeen weeks' consumption of 4,000,000 tons is 68,000,000 tons—or entirely wiping out the tremendous reserve on hand at the start of the strike.

Officials of the survey said today they had no figures showing consumption since the strike began, although in normal years it is about 9,000,000 tons weekly.

FAILURE TO FILE REPORTS CHARGED

Cincinnati, August 4.—A warrant was issued here today for the arrest of Clifford E. Emmich, in U. S. court charging him with failure to file proper income tax reports. This action according to J. L. Pierce, of the "flying squadron" of the intelligence division, U. S. treasury department, who has been here for several weeks carrying on investigations of the income tax returns filed by men known to have been engaged in the bootlegging business as well as other citizens thought to have defrauded the government, marks the opening of a big crusade to bring tax evaders to justice in this city.

Mr. Pierce and his associates came to Cincinnati to work on information supplied them by the United States district attorney here following prosecution of George Remus, convicted head of a whiskey ring operating in this city. Emmich was the plaintiff in a suit, filed recently to recover $10,000 on a note given him by Remus.

M'KELLAR RECEIVES THE NOMINATION

Nashville, Tenn., August 4.—Senator K. D. McKellar has received the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator in the primaries by a majority, it is believed of about 40,000 votes. G. T. Fitzhugh was second.

Austin Peay of Clarksville, an attorney was nominated for governor by a plurality estimated at 12,000. Benton McMillen, former governor, ran second. L. E. Gwinn and Harvey H. Hannah are fighting it out for third place.

The unofficial vote from 58 counties was: For senator: McKellar 61,141; Fitzhugh 30,803; Cooper, 4,941.

For governor: Peay 46,877; McMillen 34,741; Gwinn 12,500; Hannah 11,851.

In the seventh congressional district a big majority was rolled up for L. P. Padgett, member of congress, who died the day preceding the primary. His friends rallied to his support and paid him this last tribute. Doubt exists as to whether C. Salmon, of Columbia, whose name was the only other to appear on the ballot will be declared the nominee or another primary will be held.

SECOND DEATH IN RAIL ACCIDENT OCCURS; THIRD MAY LIVE; ESTABLISHES IDENTITY

Light was thrown on the identity of the three colored men, who were struck by a Pennsylvania freight train near the Jasper crossing east of Xenia, Thursday morning at 7:05 o'clock, when one man was instantly killed and another so badly injured that he died Thursday afternoon.

The second man died at the Esplanade hospital, where he with the other man, who was seriously injured, was removed Thursday afternoon at one thirty o'clock. Death was caused by a fractured skull and multiple injuries. The body was taken in charge by Undertakers Johnson and Harris and removed to their funeral parlors.

The living member of the trio in brief phases of consciousness Thursday night and Friday morning, gave attending physicians a faint idea as to his identity. According to the information gained by the physicians, the living man's name is Thomas Tallifero, of Cincinnati, the name of the man killed instantly by the train was given as Reginald Kimbro and that of the man who died Thursday afternoon, as Samuel Jennings. All three were from Cincinnati.

According to Dr. W. A. Galloway who is attending the injured man, his story is held unreliable since Tallifero was only conscious and able to talk for very brief intervals, and gave a confusing story as to the identity of the other two men. He insisted upon his own name as the one given, which is believed to be correct, but mentioned several other names concerning the two dead men.

Why the three were walking along the tracks or had come to be struck by the train could not be learned from Tallifero, who lapsed again into an unconscious state in a short time, after regaining consciousness.

J. C. Johnson, local undertaker, who took charge of the body of Jennings, investigated the story told by Tallifero, and communicated with a sister of Jennings in Cincinnati, Friday. The sister identified the body as that of her brother by the location of a scar on the body.

With the knowledge of the name of the living member of the party, Undertaker Johnson communicated with Cincinnati police and detectives who were asked to search for relatives of Tallifero. The sister of Jennings, read an account of the accident in Cincinnati papers, and since she had known that her brother with Kimbro had left the city, she communicated with Undertaker Johnson by phone and identified the body by a scar on her brother's nose. Jennings' sister with his mother live at 2104 Pongue Avenue, Cincinnati. They are expected to arrive in the city Friday to complete identification and claim the body. Relatives of Kimbro had not been reached.

One theory advanced is that the men were on their way to Columbus, beating their way through and alighted in Xenia by mistake. According to information Friday they bought two loaves of bread, some bologna and three pints of milk at the Bonz grocery in the east end and then lay down near the tracks at the Jamestown crossing, it is believed, to wait for another train. It is thought that they expected the noise of the train to wake them, and fell asleep on the tracks.

Tallifero, the living member of the trio is sixteen years of age according to his story told physicians, while Jennings is thought to be about twenty years of age. Tallifero's home is on Maple Leaf avenue, Cincinnati, while Kimbro resides on Ashland avenue, Cincinnati.

Although suffering from a fractured skull and other serious injuries, physicians hold hope for the recovery of Tallifero. He spent a good night Thursday and is slowly regaining consciousness.

MATHILDE M'CORMICK ARRIVES IN FRANCE BUT IS NOT MET EITHER BY HER FATHER OR MAJOR MAX OSER

Cherbourg, France, August 4.—Miss Mathilde McCormick, 17-year-old grand daughter of John D. Rockefeller, arrived here today on the liner Majestic, but contrary to expectations she was not met either by her father, Harold F. McCormick, nor by her fiancé, Major Max Oser, Swiss riding master.

"This is the most exciting morning of my life," exclaimed Mathilde

REPORT OF MEETING DENIED BY LEWIS

Philadelphia, August 4.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers today branded as "unwarranted and unauthorized" reports that he would hold a conference here on Wednesday next with the anthracite coal operators.

"Some one is pretty badly 'up in the air'" Mr. Lewis said. "I have no idea where these rumors come from, for I certainly have said nothing that would give rise to them."

In some of the reports, the impression was given that officials close to Lewis were responsible for them. This is contradicted by the fact that the only official with Mr. Lewis is O. L. Garrison, his secretary, who also denies having given out anything that could possibly make such a report plausible.

It was indicated by Mr. Garrison that the most likely place for such a conference would be the union league club, New York, where previous anthracite settlements have been effected. It was also pointed out that as Mr. Lewis must confer with his policy committee after conference with the operators of the central competitive field in Cleveland on Monday, it would obviously be impractical for him to hold a meeting here on Wednesday.

MANY ARE KILLED IN ROME FIGHTING

Rome, August 4.—Fascisti, the militant organization of the Italian nationalists, seized the city of Milan today after a battle in which 62 persons were wounded. Two hundred arrests were made. At last reports the fascisti were administering executive affairs of Milan.

Rome, August 4.—Fighting, in which many persons were killed and wounded, broke out today in various northern cities between fascisti and socialists. Gabriel D'Annunzio, poet, playwright and warrior who seized and held Fiume in defiance of Italy and Jugo Slavia joined the fascisti at Milan.

The fascisti at Milan forced the mayor to resign. Four persons were killed in fighting at Ancona. Many casualties resulted from a clash at Genoa in which fascisti, strikers and police participated.

REED'S PLURALITY PLACED AT 7,101

St. Louis, Aug. 4.—Returns received today from all but 266 small and remote precincts in Tuesday's state wide primary for the U. S. Senatorial nomination give Senator Jim Reed a plurality of 7,101 over Breckenridge Long, his Democratic opponent. R. R. Brewster on the same returns had a majority over William Sacks, of 11,990 for the Republican nomination. The official count to be started in Jefferson City tomorrow is expected to make but little change in the present standing.

The vote: Reed 186,507; Long 179,506; Brewster 77,392; Sacks 65,402.

GOMPERS DECLARES HE SEES ATTEMPT AGAINST LABOR

Washington, Aug. 4.—Rejection of peace overtures by rail executives and coal operators, indicates collusion of effort to give the death thrust to organized labor, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor charged today.

In a vitriolic attack he charged the rail and coal heads are defying the government, and "by corruption, brutality and unlawful methods," attempting to break down the morale of the strikers.

"They assume they are greater than the government," said Gompers. "If big business thinks it can deny the right of the working class to protest against this condition it is mistaken. There were 4,000,000 working men in the army and they were fighting for freedom and against kaiserism and they are not likely to take for granted that they have to live under kaiserism or junkerism in the United States. American labor will not live under those conditions."

It must be increasingly apparent to the people of this country that under no conditions can coal be mined until the union miners have gone back to work, and it must also be apparent that the rail strike will end only when the shompen's demands are met.

"Railroad managers and coal mine owners, in rejecting terms of settlement are manifesting more than ever their disregard for the workers, their disregard for justice and for the welfare of the people."

CAPTAIN EDMUNDS WILL BE IN XENIA

Captain W. P. Edmunds, formerly of the 330th Infantry, which was manned in the majority by Greene County soldiers of the early draft outfits during the World War, and another officer of the 330th well known to the local veterans will be in Xenia Saturday, it is announced.

Soldiers who were formerly in Captain Edmunds' command and who had him here at the Soldiers' Home Coming as their guests are expecting to give their former commander a warm welcome.

CONDUCT HEARING IN BROWER CASE

Columbus, August 4.—Secretary of State Smith this afternoon conducted a hearing relative to the request for the removal of Daniel C. Brower, Dayton member of the Montgomery county election board, for alleged misconduct in office. The hearing was based upon charges filed by Walter G. Mathews, Dayton well known Republican leader.

Allegations of 28 instances of misconduct are enumerated in the written charges filed by Mathews, including the claim that Brower, as chief deputy, permitted Democratic election officials to count Democratic votes and Republicans to count Republican votes. It was charged also that Brower permitted certain candidates to receive lists of voters but refused to allow other candidates to obtain them.

MRS. EMMA JACK CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Emma Jack, a well known resident of this city, passed away Friday morning at 9:50 o'clock after an illness of a month. She had been sick since the second of July suffering from a complication of diseases and for several days her condition had been critical. She died at the home on South Detroit street, where she spent all of her married life with the exception of eight or nine years when the family lived in Iowa.

Mrs. Jack, who was the daughter of George and Gertrude Thornhill was born in Ripley, Ohio, but came to this city with her parents when a child. Her husband, William Theodore Jack died in 1888.

She is survived by four sons, Harry, John and Oliver of Xenia and twenty-three grand children and three great grand children. She also leaves four brothers, George Thornhill, of Decatur, Ala., Joseph Thornhill, of Granville, O., and Albert and Charles Thornhill, of this city. One son, Thornhill, preceded her in death four years ago. The death of Mrs. Jack is the third that has occurred in her immediate family circle within the last year. Her brother, John Thornhill died in Alabama, just about a year ago, and another brother, William Thornhill, died in this city last February.

Mrs. Jack became affiliated with the First M. E. Church about four years ago and had since given her life and service for the salvation of others in the various churches and missions of the city. She was widely known throughout the city and community and leaves a large circle of friends.

NATION AT BOTTOM OF ITS COAL BIN

Washington, August 4.—Just how much coal is there in the country today, above ground?

No one in Washington knows to any degree of exactness, so far as can be ascertained.

The geological survey, the new federal coal administration, the various government departments, professed not to know today, but all agreed in the opinion that the nation is at the bottom of its bin.

The best estimate the survey had was that on April 1, when the strike began, there were 68,000,000 tons in reserve.

Normal consumption is estimated at about 9,000,000 tons weekly. Production since the strike has averaged less than five million tons weekly, or four million tons short of consumption.

The strike is now in its seventeenth week. Seventeen weeks' consumption of 4,000,000 tons is 68,000,000 tons—or entirely wiping out the tremendous reserve on hand at the start of the strike.

Officials of the survey said today they had no figures showing consumption since the strike began, although in normal years it is about 9,000,000 tons weekly.

FAILURE TO FILE REPORTS CHARGED

Cincinnati, August 4.—A warrant was issued here today for the arrest of Clifford E. Emmich, in U. S. court charging him with failure to file proper income tax reports. This action according to J. L. Pierce, of the "flying squadron" of the intelligence division, U. S. treasury department, who has been here for several weeks carrying on investigations of the income tax returns filed by men known to have been engaged in the bootlegging business as well as other citizens thought to have defrauded the government, marks the opening of a big crusade to bring tax evaders to justice in this city.

Mr. Pierce and his associates came to Cincinnati to work on information supplied them by the United States district attorney here by the prosecution of George Remus, convicted head of a whiskey ring operating in this city. Emmich was the plaintiff in a suit, filed recently to recover $10,000 on a note given him by Remus.

M'KELLAR RECEIVES THE NOMINATION

Nashville, Tenn., August 4.—Senator K. D. McKellar has received the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator in the primaries by a majority, it is believed of about 40,000 votes. G. T. Fitzhugh was second.

Austin Peay of Clarksville, an attorney was nominated for governor by a plurality estimated at 12,000. Benton McMillen, former governor, ran second, L. E. Gwinn and Harvey H. Hannah are fighting it out for third place.

The unofficial vote from 58 counties was: For senator: McKellar 61,141; Fitzhugh 30,803; Cooper, 4,941.

For governor: Peay 46,877; McMillen 34,741; Gwinn 12,500; Hannah 11,851.

In the seventh congressional district a big majority was rolled up for L. P. Padgett, member of congress, who died the day preceding the primary. His friends rallied to his support and paid him this last tribute. Doubt exists as to whether W. C. Salmon, of Columbia, whose name was the only other to appear on the ballot will be declared the nominee or another primary will be held.

SECOND DEATH IN RAIL ACCIDENT OCCURS; THIRD MAY LIVE; ESTABLISHES IDENTITY

Light was thrown on the identity of the three colored men, who were struck by a Pennsylvania freight train near the Jasper crossing east of Xenia, Thursday morning at 7:05 o'clock, when one man was instantly killed and another so badly injured that he died Thursday afternoon.

The second man died at the Espey hospital, where he with the other man, who was seriously injured, was removed Thursday afternoon at one-thirty o'clock. Death was caused by a fractured skull and multiple injuries. The body was taken in charge by Undertakers Johnson and Harris and removed to their funeral parlors.

The living member of the trio in brief phases or consciousness Thursday night and Friday morning, gave attending physicians a faint idea as to his identity. According to the information gained by the physicians, the living man's name is Thomas Tallifero, of Cincinnati, the name of the man killed instantly by the train was given as Reginald Kimbro, and that of the man who died Thursday afternoon, as Samuel Jennings. All three were from Cincinnati.

According to Dr. W. A. Galloway who is attending the injured man, his story is held unreliable since Tallifero was only conscious and able to talk for very brief intervals, and gave a confusing story as to the identity of the other two men. He insisted upon his own name as the one given, which is believed to be correct, but mentioned several other names concerning the two dead men.

Why the three were walking along the tracks or had come to be struck by the train could not be learned from Tallifero, who lapsed again into an unconscious state in a short time, after regaining consciousness.

J. C. Johnson, local undertaker, who took charge of the body of Jennings, investigated the story told by Tallifero, and communicated with a sister of Jennings in Cincinnati, Friday. The sister identified the body as that of her brother by the location of a scar on the body.

With the knowledge of the name of the living member of the party, Undertaker Johnson communicated with Cincinnati police and detectives who were asked to search for relatives of Tallifero. The sister of Jennings read an account of the accident in Cincinnati papers, and since she had known that her brother with Kimbro had left the city, she communicated with Undertaker Johnson by phone and identified the body by a scar on her brother's nose. Jennings' sister with his mother live at 2104 Poague Avenue, Cincinnati. They are expected to arrive in the city Friday to complete identification and claim the body. Relatives of Kimbro had not been reached.

One theory advanced is that the men were on their way to Columbus, beating their way through and alighted in Xenia by mistake. According to information Friday, they bought two loaves of bread, some bologna and three pints of milk at the Bon grocery in the east end, and then lay down on the tracks and the Jamestown crossing, it is believed, to wait for another train. It is thought that they expected the noise of the train to wake them, and fell asleep on the tracks.

Tallifero, the living member of the trio is sixteen years of age according to his story told physicians, while Jennings is thought to be about twenty years of age. Tallifero's home is on Maple Leaf avenue, Cincinnati, while Kimbro resides on Ashland avenue, Cincinnati.

Although suffering from a fractured skull and other serious injuries, physicians hold hope for the recovery of Tallifero. He spent a good night Thursday and is slowly regaining consciousness.

REPORT OF MEETING DENIED BY LEWIS

Philadelphia, August 4.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers today branded as "unwarranted and unauthorized" reports that he would hold a conference here on Wednesday next with the anthracite coal operators.

"Some one is pretty badly 'up in the air,'" Mr. Lewis said. "I have no idea where these rumors come from, for I certainly have said nothing that would give rise to them."

In some of the reports, the impression was given that officials close to Lewis were responsible for them. This is contradicted by the fact that the only official with Mr. Lewis is O. L. Garrison, his secretary, who also denies having given out anything that could possibly make such a report plausible.

It was indicated by Mr. Garrison that the most likely place for such a conference would be the union league club, New York, where previous anthracite settlements have been effected. It was also pointed out that as Mr. Lewis must confer with his policy committee after conference with the operators of the central competitive field in Cleveland on Monday, it would obviously be impractical for him to hold a meeting here on Wednesday.

MANY ARE KILLED IN ROME FIGHTING

Rome, August 4.—Fascisti, the militant organization of the Italian nationalists, seized the city of Milan today after a battle in which 62 persons were wounded. Two hundred arrests were made. At last reports the fascisti were administering executive affairs of Milan.

Rome, August 4.—Fighting, in which many persons were killed and wounded, broke out today in various northern cities between fascisti and socialists. Gabriel D'Annunzio, poet, playwright and warrior who seized and held Fiume in defiance of Italy and Jugo Slavia joined the fascisti at Milan.

The fascisti at Milan forced the mayor to resign. Four persons were killed in fighting at Ancona.

Many casualties resulted from a clash at Genoa in which fascisti, strikers and police participated.

REED'S PLURALITY PLACED AT 7,101

St. Louis, Aug. 4.—Returns received today from all but 266 small and remote precincts in Tuesday's state wide primary for the U. S. Senatorial nomination give Senator Jim Reed a plurality of 7,101 over Breckenridge Long, his Democratic opponent, R. R. Brewster on the same returns had a majority over William Sacks, of 11,990 for the Republican nomination. The official count to be started in Jefferson City tomorrow is expected to make but little change in the present standing.

The vote: Reed 186,507; Long 179,506; Brewster 77,392; Sacks 65,402.

GOMPERS DECLARES HE SEES ATTEMPT AGAINST LABOR

Washington, Aug. 4.—Rejection of peace overtures by rail executives and coal operators, indicates collusion of effort to give the death thrust to organized labor, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor charged today.

In a vitriolic attack he charged the rail and coal heads are defying the government, and "by corruption, brutality and unlawful methods," attempting to break down the morale of the strikers.

"They assume they are greater than the government," said Gompers. "If big business thinks it can deny the right of the working class to protest against this condition it is mistaken. There were 4,000,000 working men in the army and they were fighting for freedom and against kaiserism and they are not likely to take for granted that they have to live under kaiserism or Junkerism in the United States. American labor will not live under those conditions."

It must be increasingly apparent to the people of this country that under no conditions can coal be mined until the union miners have gone back to work, and it must also be apparent that the rail strike will end only when the shompen's demands are met.

"Railroad managers and coal mine owners, in rejecting terms of settlement are manifesting more than ever their disregard for the workers, their disregard for justice and for the welfare of the people."

CAPTAIN EDMUNDS WILL BE IN XENIA

Soldiers who were formerly in Captain Edmunds' command, and who had him here at the Soldiers' Home Coming, as their guests are expecting to give their former commander a warm welcome.

CONDUCT HEARING IN BROWER CASE

Columbus, August 4.—Secretary of State Smith this afternoon conducted a hearing relative to the request for the removal of Daniel C. Brower, Dayton member of the Montgomery county election board, for alleged misconduct in office. The hearing was based upon charges filed by Walter G. Mathews, Dayton well known Republican leader.

Allegations of 28 instances of misconduct are enumerated in the written charges filed by Mathews, including the claim that Brower, as chief deputy, permitted Democratic election officials to count Democratic votes and Republicans to count Republican votes. It was charged also that Brower permitted certain candidates to receive lists of voters but refused to allow other candidates to obtain them.

THE SWEEPING VISION THAT A BUSINESS LEADER MUST HAVE.

For the past twenty years Mr. Franklin Remington's name has been linked with many of the most interesting and spectacular engineering feats on the North American Continent. The "Foundation Company," of which he has been president or chairman of the board during this period, has driven to bedrock the foundations of many of New York's greatest skyscrapers. The Woolworth Building, the tallest in the world; the Municipal Building, with the deepest caissons ever sunk for an office structure, one hundred and fifty feet below the curb; the Singer, Whitehall, Western Union, Guaranty Trust, and United States Express buildings are only a few of the towering piles on New York's sky line which Remington's army has made possible by disem-boweling sand, gravel, living water, quicksand, and rock strata, until the earth's crust was reached.

When asked what is the biggest problem one has to face, Mr. Remington leaned forward and spoke positively. "It isn't money! It isn't methods! It isn't markets! It's men! The voice of American industry is forever crying in the wilderness for capable executives; for big, broad, many-sided leaders, who can communicate their vision, their knowledge, their enthusiasms to the forces they lead. The average man, however earnest and faithful, has a tendency to be one-sided. He develops in his own specialty and never outgrows it. He fails to visualize the demands and qualifications of leadership and to fit himself to assume it.

"This company has never had the slightest difficulty in hiring men who are technically capable. There is always a plentiful supply of engineers, ranging from good to excellent. Most of them make good department heads and some of them develop into real leaders; but the overwhelming majority of technically trained men go so far—and stop! They lack the general knowledge, the wide contact, the sweeping vision that a leader must have.

"Few men work intelligently toward the big, distant goal. They are conscientious about learning every detail of their own job—and that is to be commended! A 100-per-cent purchasing agent is just as praiseworthy a part of the business structure as a 100-per-cent president. But if that purchasing agent has ambitions to become the president of his company, he must acquire the general knowledge, the outlook, the social understanding, without which no leader of an important modern business enterprise can swing his job."

BLAMING THE POLITICIANS.

Unquestionably politicians are to blame for a great many of our misfortunes, but it is going too far when a correspondent charges them with keeping the people in ignorance, referring to the individual who is a "common laborer" because he lacks the education to fit himself for anything else.

It is but human for the politician to wish to succeed, and as a natural result the unscrupulous of the brand do not hesitate to mislead and misinform the public when it is to their advantage to do so.

Despite this condition, however, the individual American is blessed with the greatest opportunities ever presented anywhere. No individual may remain ignorant and uneducated save through choice. Free public schools are open to all everywhere in this broad land. If in childhood poverty and ignorance on the part of parents keep the child from obtaining an education, after maturity is reached and one becomes master of his own destiny there is still ample opportunity for the acquiring of knowledge.

History shows a president of the United States raised to manhood without sufficient education to read and write. But the determination to secure an education was there and it was used, with the result that Andrew Johnson rose to the highest office within the gift of the American people.

False leaders, not all of them politicians, preach false doctrines to men and lead them astray. But every man has a chance to become a leader rather than a follower.

Save in time of great necessity, such as the war produced, no individual or set of individuals can expect to receive more than his just due—more than his mental or physical ability can produce. If he does receive it for a time someone is going to have to pay the difference.

THE PROMENADE.

A contemporary writer bewails the passing of the old custom of "promenading" on pleasant evenings, and wishes that it might be restored. There is reason in his plea.

Not so long ago, the summer twilight in almost every community found groups of people, nice people—strolling quietly along the streets, stopping to chat with other groups and combining social intercourse, mild after-dinner exercise and enjoyment of the best part of a day in a fashion as inexpensive as it was charming and conducive to health and neighborliness.

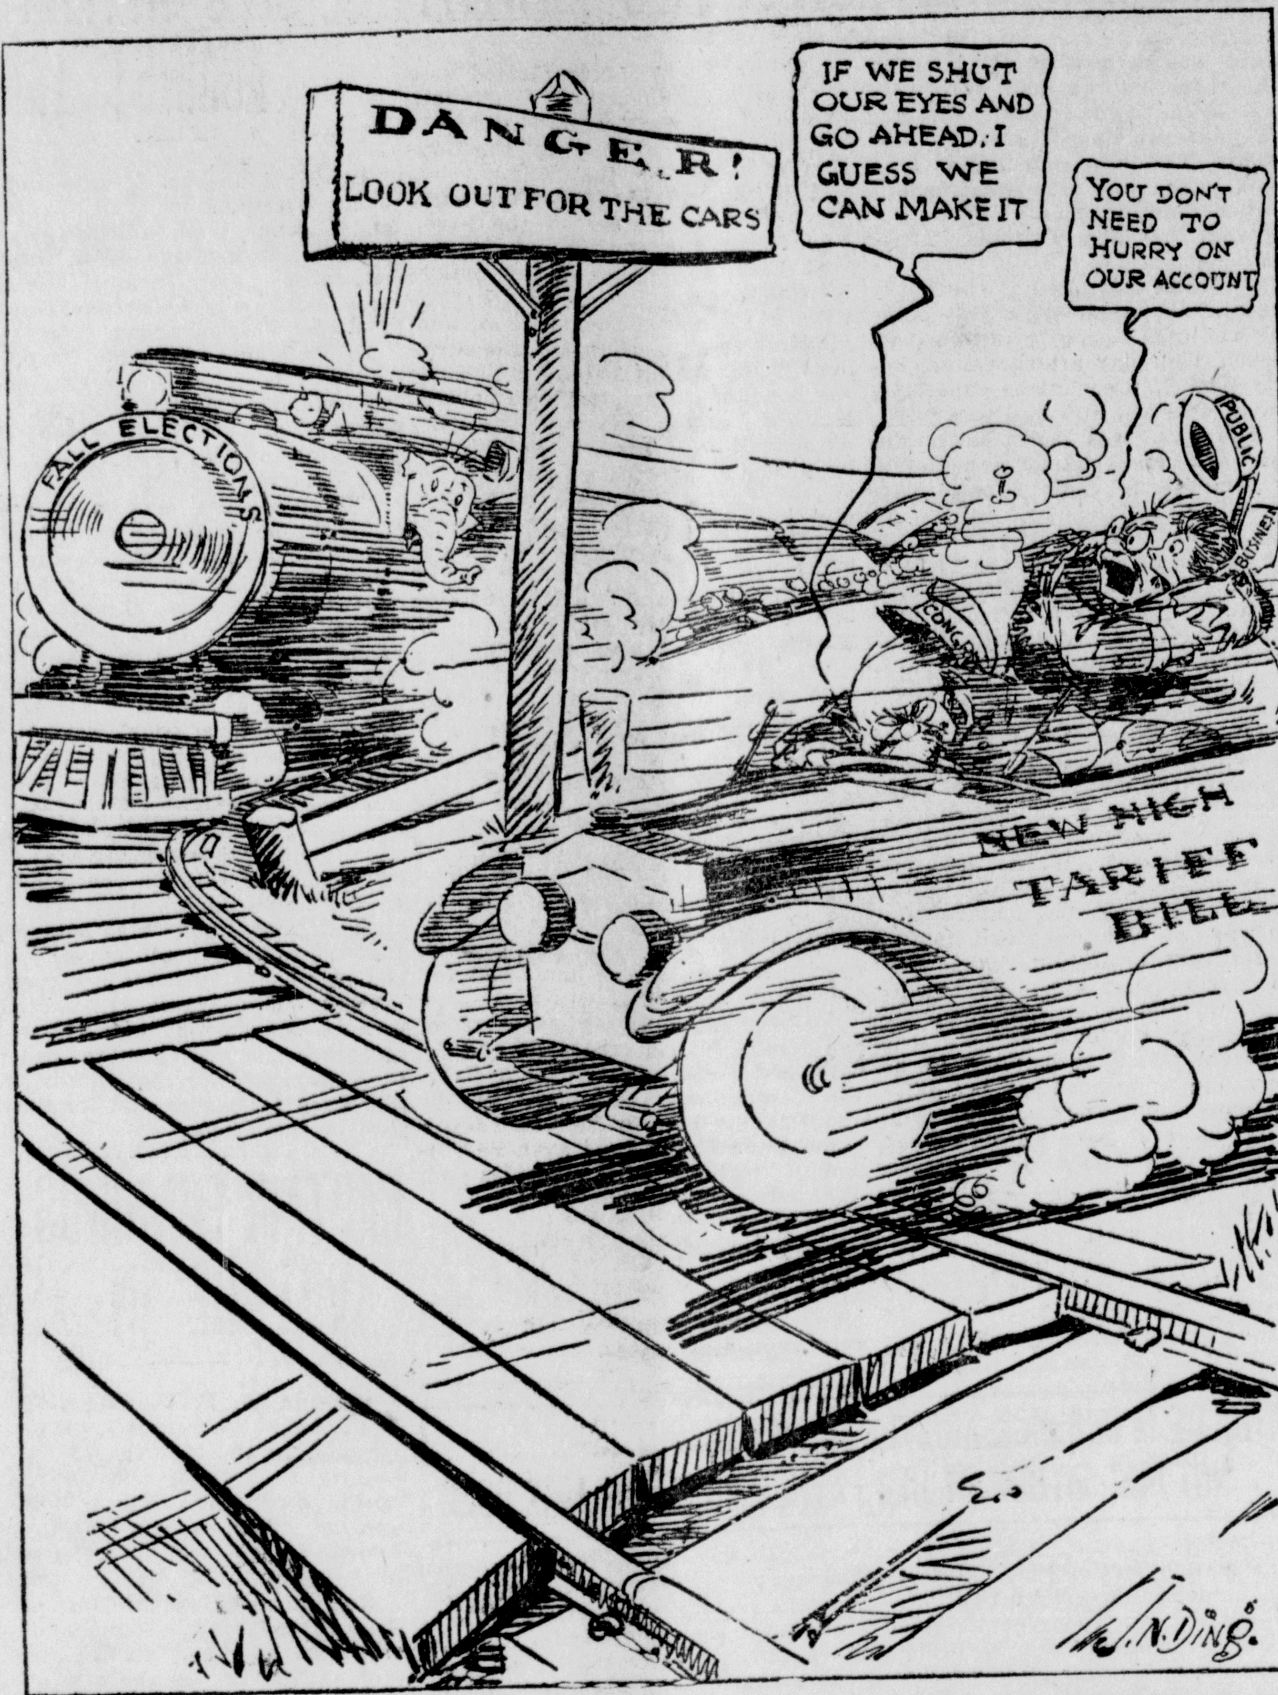

As the champion of the promenade points out, it is a pity that the fashion of tearing about in motor cars with little result but the exhaustion of purse and nervous energy has so completely superseded this calmer method of enjoyment. "Use your legs," he urges. "It is cheaper than riding and more restful of mind and body."

These who have the courage to adopt his suggestion and leave the car standing in the garage for a few nights while they promenaded, unhooked and unhooking, in the peaceful twilight, will find that he is right.

AN AWFUL TIME.

The Middletown (Md.) Register declares that with so many radio outfits springing up in Baltimore, funny things are happening. "Some sensitive persons," says the Register, "are having an awful time getting to sleep because of the bedtime stories catching on the springs of their beds. A row of iron dish rags at a five and ten cent store frightened the lady clerk out of a week's appetite by giving a lecture on careless husbands. Another lady, whose boy is installing a radio outfit, was talking to a neighbor with a potato masher in her hand, when all of a sudden the masher joined in the conversation. Both ladies fainted and the potato masher quit after giving the weather report, the baseball scores and singing a song."

WHAT'S THE HURRY?

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

Mrs. W. E. Cox and son Raymond returned this morning from Jeffersonville, where they have been visiting her brother for several days.

West-bound freight No. 83 was wrecked about a mile west of Selma this morning. No one was injured, when the freight, running at a good speed, when a draw bar pulled out from one of the cars and dropped down, ditching two or three cars.

The members of Co. I, of the Fourth Regiment O. N. G. took their departure this morning for a week's encampment at Newark. There were 56 Xenia boys at the Pan Handle Station.

From all indication the Greene county fair this year, will be one of the largest and best that was ever held in Greene County. The exhibits have been coming in wonderfully well and the roads leading to the fair grounds for the past week have been traveled by many persons.

expression. Dreams woven into deeds and made golden along threaded words.

It was Carlyle who once wrote that "a true poet, a man in whose heart results some effluence of wisdom some tone of the 'eternal melodies,' is the most precious gift that can be bestowed on a generation."

Only the gifted few may be poets in expression. But all of us may be poets in feeling and appreciation.

Just keep the windows of your heart house open and the door flung wide—so that you may see and walk out into the great outside world and daily invite it to "come in."

THE CROAKERS.

I'm weary of people complaining, I'm tired of the briny they shed; they come to my door when it's raining, and say that they wish they were dead. They come when the sun is dispensing the warmth that is vital and sweet, and say that the corn is commencing to shrivel and fire in the heat. They come when the winter is spreading its radiant mantle of snow, and say it's just what they've been dreading—it rounds out their burden of woe. They come when the gentle caressings of spring should make everyone gay, but they have forgotten their blessings, it's always a grouch they display. They come when kind Providence chooses to sprinkle some frost in the glens, and talk of their aches and their bruises, their corns and their bunions and wens. So more like a hermit I'm getting, I'd fain be alone in my lair, for visitors always are fretting, and grumbling and wringing their hair. Sometimes there's a caller who catters of happiness, sunshine and glee; his opulent language he splatters, as though from a hose, over me. I weep on his neck and embrace him, and tell him his presence is sweet, and hope that good fortune may chase him all over the world and repeat. Too many have heart breaking stories, too many shed tears in a flood; this work in their eyes has no glories, they can't see the roses for mud.

THE SWEEPING VISION THAT A BUSINESS LEADER MUST HAVE.

For the past twenty years Mr. Franklin Remington's name has been linked with many of the most interesting and spectacular engineering feats on the North American Continent. The "Foundation Company," of which he has been president or chairman of the board during this period, has driven to bedrock the foundations of many of New York's greatest skyscrapers. The Woolworth Building, the tallest in the world; the Municipal Building, with the deepest caissons ever sunk for an office structure, one hundred and fifty feet below the curb; the Singer, Whitehall, Western Union, Guaranty Trust, and United States Express buildings are only a few of the towering piles on New York's sky line which Remington's army has made possible by disem-boweling sand, gravel, living water, quicksand, and rock strata, until the earth's crust was reached.

When asked what is the biggest problem one has to face, Mr. Remington leaned forward and spoke positively. "It isn't money! It isn't methods! It isn't markets! It's men! The voice of American industry is forever crying in the wilderness for capable executives; for big, broad, many-sided leaders, who can communicate their vision, their knowledge, their enthusiasms to the forces they lead. The average man, however earnest and faithful, has a tendency to be one-sided. He develops in his own specialty and never outgrows it. He fails to visualize the demands and qualifications of leadership and to fit himself to assume it.

"This company has never had the slightest difficulty in hiring men who are technically capable. There is always a plentiful supply of engineers, ranging from good to excellent. Most of them make good department heads and some of them develop into real leaders; but the overwhelming majority of technically trained men go so far—and stop! They lack the general knowledge, the wide contact, the sweeping vision that a leader must have.

"Few men work intelligently toward the big, distant goal. They are conscientious about learning every detail of their own job—and that is to be commended! A 100-per-cent purchasing agent is just as praiseworthy a part of the business structure as a 100-per-cent president. But if that purchasing agent has ambitions to become the president of his company, he must acquire the general knowledge, the outlook, the social understanding, without which no leader of an important modern business enterprise can swing his job."

BLAMING THE POLITICIANS.

Unquestionably politicians are to blame for a great many of our misfortunes, but it is going too far when a correspondent charges them with keeping the people in ignorance, referring to the individual who is a "common laborer" because he lacks the education to fit himself for anything else.

It is but human for the politician to wish to succeed, and as a natural result the unscrupulous of the brand do not hesitate to mislead and misinform the public when it is to their advantage to do so.

Despite this condition, however, the individual American is blessed with the greatest opportunities ever presented anywhere. No individual may remain ignorant and uneducated save through choice. Free public schools are open to all everywhere in this broad land. If in childhood poverty and ignorance on the part of parents keep the child from obtaining an education, after maturity is reached and one becomes master of his own destiny there is still ample opportunity for the acquiring of knowledge.

History shows a president of the United States raised to manhood without sufficient education to read and write. But the determination to secure an education was there and it was used, with the result that Andrew Johnson rose to the highest office within the gift of the American people.

False leaders, not all of them politicians, preach false doctrines to men and lead them astray. But every man has a chance to become a leader rather than a follower.

Save in time of great necessity, such as the war produced, no individual or set of individuals can expect to receive more than his just due—more than his mental or physical ability can produce. If he does receive it for a time someone is going to have to pay the difference.

THE PROMENADE.

A contemporary writer bewails the passing of the old custom of "promenading" on pleasant evenings, and wishes that it might be restored. There is reason in his plea.

Not so long ago, the summer twilight in almost every community found groups of people, nice people—strolling quietly along the streets, stopping to chat with other groups and combining social intercourse, mild after-dinner exercise and enjoyment of the best part of a day in a fashion as inexpensive as it was charming and conducive to health and neighborliness.

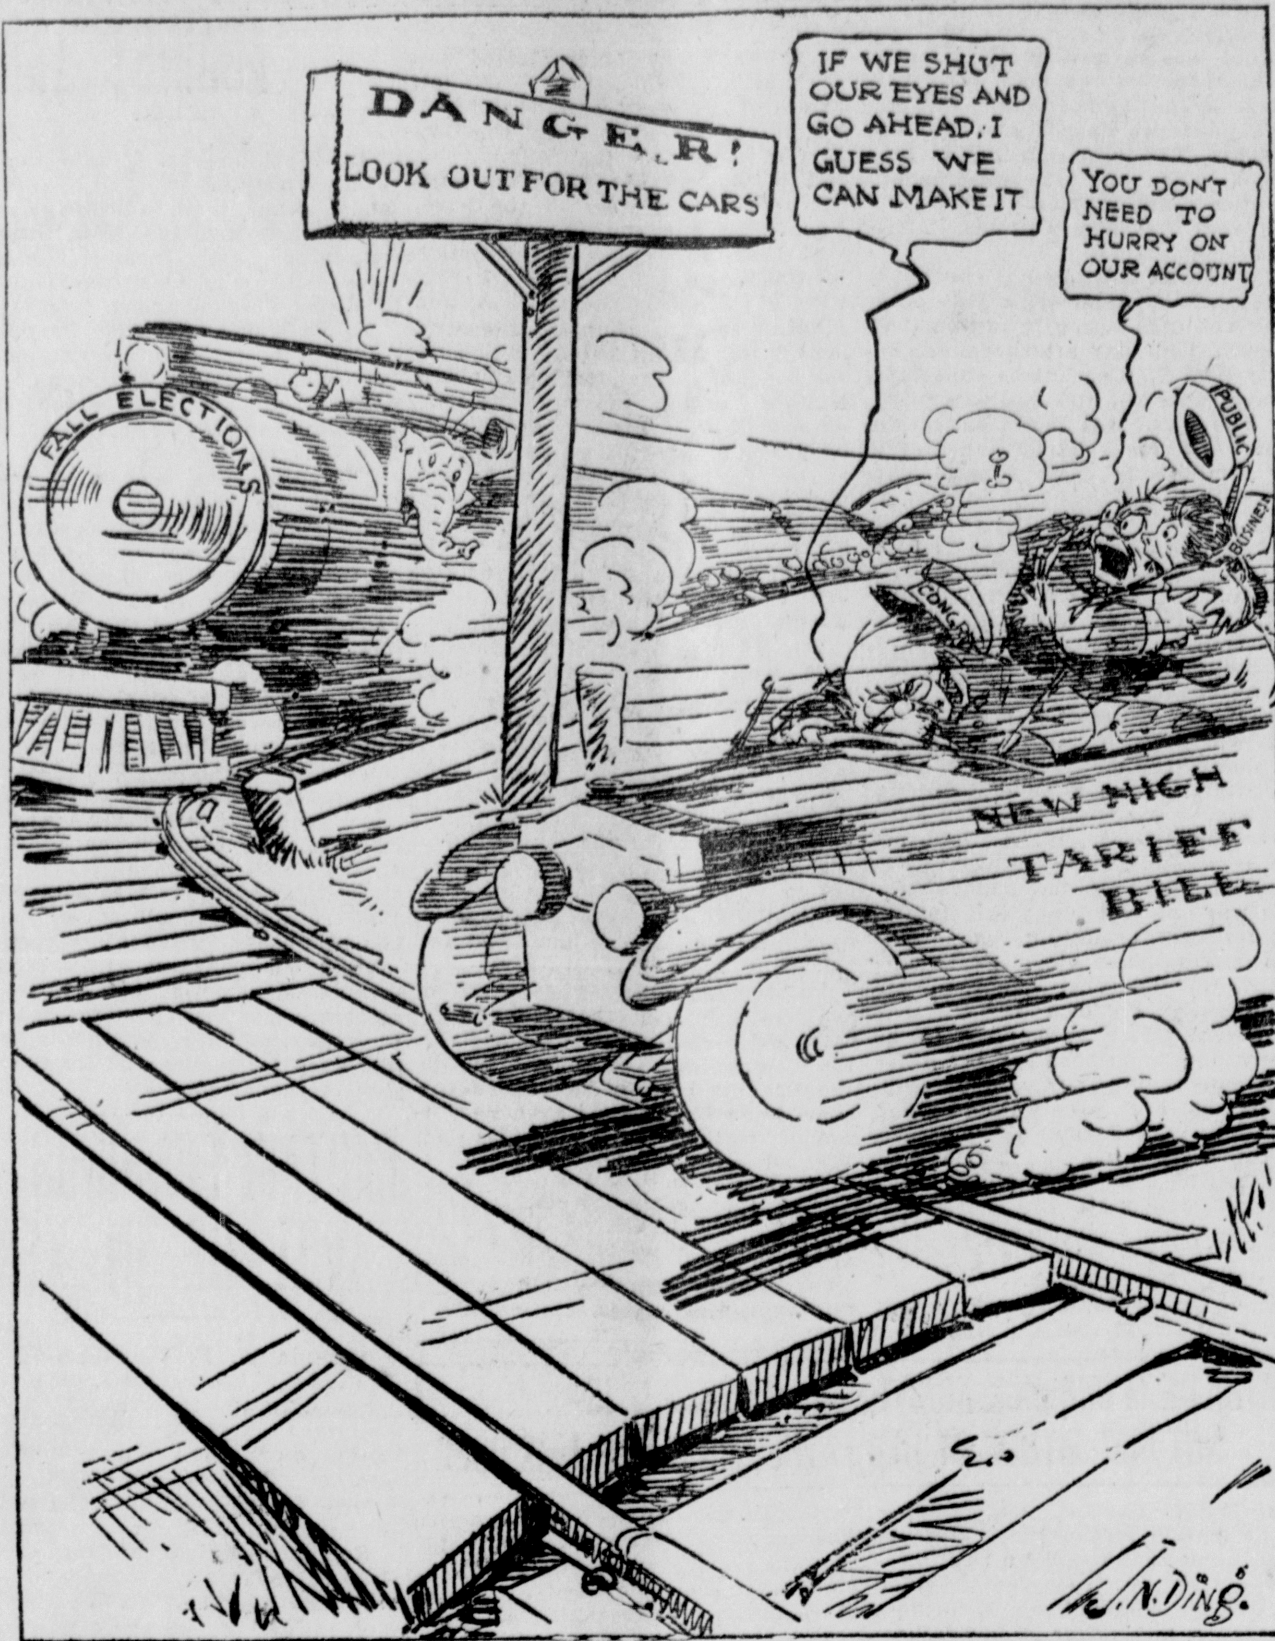

As the champion of the promenade points out, it is a pity that the fashion of tearing about in motor cars with little result but the exhaustion of purse and nervous energy has so completely superseded this calmer method of enjoyment. "Use your legs," he urges. "It is cheaper than riding and more restful of mind and body."

These who have the courage to adopt his suggestion and leave the car standing in the garage for a few nights while they promenaded, unhooked and unhooking, in the peaceful twilight, will find that he is right.

AN AWFUL TIME.

The Middletown (Md.) Register declares that with so many radio outfits springing up in Baltimore, funny things are happening. "Some sensitive persons," says the Register, "are having an awful time getting to sleep because of the bedtime stories catching on the springs of their beds. A row of iron dish rags at a five and ten cent store frightened the lady clerk out of a week's appetite by giving a lecture on careless husbands. Another lady, whose boy is installing a radio outfit, was talking to a neighbor with a potato masher in her hand, when all of a sudden the masher joined in the conversation. Both ladies fainted and the potato masher quit after giving the weather report, the baseball scores and singing a song."

WHAT'S THE HURRY?

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

Mrs. W. E. Cox and son Raymond returned this morning from Jeffersonville, where they have been visiting her brother for several days.

West-bound freight No. 83 was wrecked about a mile west of Selma this morning. No one was injured, when the freight, running at a good speed, when a draw bar pulled out from one of the cars and dropped down, ditching two or three cars.

The members of Co. I, of the Fourth Regiment, O. N. G. took their departure this morning for a week's encampment at Newark. There were 56 Xenia boys at the Pan Handle Station.

From all indication the Greene county fair this year, will be one of the largest and best that was ever held in Greene County. The exhibits have been coming in wonderfully well and the roads leading to the fair grounds for the past week have been traveled by many persons.

EXPRESSION

Expression is the noblest achievement in life. To let the world know who and what you are—in all the sincerity and genuineness that you have—this alone is fine achievement. But merely to leaf and bud, as the flower, and then wither without giving away beauty and fragrance, this is tragedy. And this is what casts shadows across the world to cloud its blue sky.

It is better, by far, to express yourself honestly and be misunderstood than not to express yourself at all.

Only those who dare and do live on. You who inspire others must of necessity live an inspiring life, wrapped in an experience of beauty—knowing sorrow as well as happiness.

I have great sympathy for the caged heart with a pulsating soul within it longing for the freedom of contact, interchange and peace. For only as we find our own are we able to rest, relax and grow.

The wild flower fascinates me. I sit down in the mesh of dead leaves and rich soil to talk with a friend so rare. It is a little Bluebell. Its tiny body and royal dress stand out so free and glad. And whether the visitor ever comes or not, it minds not. Content is it to breathe out its beauty fully—and then to join its own friends of other summers, and with its withered ashes to give nourishment to Bluebells yet unborn.

Expression isn't necessary out in the big crowd or where many may look on—perhaps in circles—but best where the heart may rise and fall in feeling and just be happy. One of the reasons for the deathlessness of poets is that they live by expression. Dreams woven into deeds and made golden along threaded words.

It was Carlyle who once wrote that "a true poet, a man in whose heart results some effluence of wisdom some tone of the 'eternal melodies,' is the most precious gift that can be bestowed on a generation."

Only the gifted few may be poets in expression. But all of us may be poets in feeling and appreciation.

Just keep the windows of your heart house open and the door flung wide—so that you may see and walk out into the great outside world and daily invite it to "come in."

FAIR DRAWS OVER 20,000 PEOPLE ON THURSDAY; RECORD

Between 22,000 and 23,000 people, the largest crowd that ever attended the Greene County Fair, was present Thursday.

Thursday is always known as "big day" at the annual fair, the crowds being larger than any other day, but the attendance Thursday was considered by fair board officials as the high-water mark of the 83 years that the annual event has been held.

The crowd of Thursday easily exceeded the crowd of Thursday a year ago, while the Wednesday crowd of 12,000 was double the crowd that attended Wednesday a year ago. A bigger and better fair with more entries in every department than ever before is partly responsible for the increased interest and the drawing power of the event.

The speed department was well patronized Thursday. A majority of the 20,000 people in attendance tried to pack themselves into the inadequate grandstand, and the overflowed the quarter-stretch and lined the fences on both sides of the track. In the meantime the midway was thronged with those who did not care for racing, and the exhibits were drawing crowds all day long.

An exhibition of saddle-horses was the feature at the track Friday morning, this being the first time the riders have been exhibited in connection with the fair. Several stables were put through their paces.

Officials Friday morning announced that because of the large number of entries in the 2:14 pace, that event has been split and will be raced Friday afternoon in two sections, making four new races instead of three. There were 15 paid entries in the 14 pace Friday morning, with a possibility of more coming. The split eliminates the big fields that delay starting.

FAIR DRAWS OVER 20,000 PEOPLE ON THURSDAY; RECORD

Between 22,000 and 23,000 people, the largest crowd that ever attended the Greene County Fair, was present Thursday.

Thursday is always known as "big day" at the annual Fair, the crowds being larger that day than any other day, but the attendance Thursday was considered by Fair Board officials as the high-water mark of the 83 years that the annual event has been held.

The crowd of Thursday easily exceeded the crowd of Thursday a year ago, while the Wednesday crowd of 12,000 was double the crowd that attended Wednesday a year ago. A bigger and better Fair with more entries in every department than ever before is partly responsible for the increased interest and the drawing power of the event.

The speed department was well patronized Thursday. A majority of the 20,000 people in attendance tried to pack themselves into the inadequate grandstand, and the overflow packed the quarter-stretch and lined the fences on both sides of the track. In the meantime the midway was thronged with those who did not care for racing, and the exhibits were drawing crowds all day long.

An exhibition of saddle-horses was the feature at the track Friday morning, this being the first time the riders have been exhibited in connection with the Fair. Several stables were put through their paces.

Officials Friday morning announced that because of the large number of entries in the 2:14 pace, that event has been split and will be raced Friday afternoon in two sections, making four new races instead of three. There were 15 paid entries in the 1:44 pace Friday morning, with a possibility of more coming. The split eliminates the big fields that delay starting.

MRS. M. E. LEWIS CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Mary E. Lewis, 89, life long resident of Wilmington, and vicinity passed away at her late home in that city, Wednesday night. Her death was due to a fall she received about two months ago and to the infirmities of age.

Mrs. Lewis was born in Wilmington, Ohio, August 27, 1833 and was the daughter of William and Martha Wiley Smith. Her husband, William Lewis passed away about sixteen years ago.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ella Miller of Paintersville and Miss Letitia at home, five grand children, and five great grand children.

Despite her advanced age, Mrs. Lewis had a bright mind and good memory. She took an active interest in the affairs of the day and could also recall many interesting events of the early history of Wilmington.

Mrs. Lewis was the oldest child and is the last of her immediate family.

Mrs. Hannah Oglesbee and Mrs. Mary Linkhart of this city are cousins of the deceased.

Funeral services will be held from the late home Friday at two o'clock, with burial at Wilmington.

The communication intimates that Germany expects new proposals which "will be carefully examined."

President Ebert and Chancellor Wirth held a long conference on the note.

HUGE WATERWAY TRANSPORT SYSTEM NOW CONTEMPLATED

Cincinnati, August 4.—Propositions are expected to be made today to the Chamber of Commerce looking to the formation of a huge waterway transport system with terminals at Cincinnati, according to Oscar F. Barrett, president of the largest river craft interests in this city. The action proposed is a merger of the Barrett lines with the Inland Waterways company of Louisville, Ky., into a $2,000,000 corporation. Negotiations have been underway for some time but so far no definite agreement has been reached.

Styles BY LENORE

Some of the most attractive blouses in the French shops, which sooner or later find themselves transported to or copied in America, combine in a most attractive way the beautiful velvet brocaded chiffons, with plain crepe de chine or Georgette in the same color. The standing figure in the sketch illustrates one of these models, which is made in sapphire blue and may be worn with a black slip in an afternoon costume.

The seated lady who is serving tea wears a dark blue Georgette crepe blouse which reaches to the knees, and is worn over a long slip. The neck and sleeves illustrate the French fondness for ladder and other open-work borders.

LIBERAL USE OF NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING IS ADVOCATED

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Liberal use of advertising and printers ink was the advice of L. F. Gilliotte of Yankton, S. D., yesterday to the Interstate Merchants' Council convention as the best means of moving "slow" stocks of merchandise.

"Any merchant who can sell goods over the retail counter can sell the same articles through advertising in newspapers," he said in outlining the value of advertising.

Conservative sly in make-up of copy, Mr. Gilliotte declared, is more effective than circus-like methods.

Competition in business, W. J. Phillips of Youngstown said, is very keen and it behooves merchants and business men engaged in retail business to give first consideration to the purchasing power of their customers and not the price.

"Less of government by and for groups, and more by and for the entire state, is needed in Ohio."

CONDUCT SEARCH FOR WOMAN, GONE

Cincinnati, August 4.—Covington, Ky., police were investigating further, today, into the mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Nora Brewer, 50, the estranged wife of a railroad engineer who has lived by herself in a little house on Wood street for the last seven years.

Two weeks ago the woman, who always held aloof from her neighbors and had never been known to raise any of the window shades in her home entered the house and had not been seen since. Neighbors said they heard strange noises issuing from the dwelling and yesterday asked the police to investigate. The house was broken into and found to be deserted.

LIBERAL USE OF NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING IS ADVOCATED

Chicago, Aug. 4.—Liberal use of advertising and printers ink was the advice of L. F. Gilliotte of Yankton, S. D., yesterday to the Interstate Merchants' Council convention as the best means of moving "slow" stocks of merchandise.

"Any merchant who can sell goods over the retail counter can sell the same articles through advertising in newspapers," he said in outlining the value of advertising.

Conservative sly in make-up of copy, Mr. Gilliotte declared, is more effective than circus-like methods.

Competition in business, W. J. Phillips of Youngstown said, is very keen and it behooves merchants and business men engaged in retail business to give first consideration to the purchasing power of their customers and not the price.

"Less of government by and for groups, and more by and for the entire state, is needed in Ohio."

MRS. M. E. LEWIS CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Mary E. Lewis, 89, life long resident of Wilmington, and vicinity passed away at her late home in that city, Wednesday night. Her death was due to a fall she received about two months ago and to the infirmities of age.

Mrs. Lewis was born in Wilmington Ohio, August 27, 1833 and was the daughter of William and Martha Wiley Smith. Her husband, William Lewis passed away about sixteen years ago.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ella Miller of Paintersville and Miss Letitia at home, five grand children, and five great grand children.

Despite her advanced age, Mrs. Lewis had a bright mind and good memory. She took an active interest in the affairs of the day and could also recall many interesting events of the early history of Wilmington. Mrs. Lewis was the oldest child and is the last of her immediate family.

Mrs. Hannah Oglesbee and Mrs. Mary Linkhart of this city are cousins of the deceased.

Funeral services will be held from the late home Friday at two o'clock, with burial at Wilmington.

GERMANY CANNOT MEET INDEMNITY

Berlin, August 4.—Germany is sending a note to France announcing that it is impossible for this country to accept the latest indemnity demands of the French. It was learned today. This note is in reply to a communication sent to Berlin by Premier Poincaré of France a week ago today. The communication intimates that Germany expects new proposals which "will be carefully examined." President Ebert and Chancellor Wirth held a long conference on the note.

NO CHANGES IN VOTING PLACES IN TOWNSHIP

There are no changes in the voting place of Xenia Township since the last election, according to the list given out Friday. Voters will find the ballots at the following places:

North Precinct—North end Assembly Room, Court House basement.
South-east precinct—South end Assembly Room, Court House basement.

HUGE WATERWAY TRANSPORT SYSTEM NOW CONTEMPLATED

Cincinnati, August 4.—Propositions are expected to be made today to the Chamber of Commerce looking to the formation of a huge waterway transport system with terminals at Cincinnati, according to Oscar F. Barrett, president of the largest river craft interests in this city. The action proposed is a merger of the Barrett line with the Inland Waterways company of Louisville, Ky., into a $2,000,000 corporation. Negotiations have been underway for some time but so far no definite agreement has been reached.

Styles BY LENORE

Some of the most attractive blouses in the French shops, which sooner or later find themselves transported to or copied in America, combine in a most attractive way the beautiful velvet brocade chiffons, with plain crepe de chine or Georgette in the same color. The standing figure in the sketch illustrates one of these models, which is made in sapphire blue and may be worn with a black slip in an afternoon costume.

The seated lady who is serving tea wears a dark blue Georgette crepe blouse which reaches to the knees, and is worn over a long slip. The neck and sleeves illustrate the French fondness for ladder and other open-work borders.

His wife assisted him at night with his studies. Later on he took a short course at Wilberforce and in the fall of 1885 he was chosen principal of one of the city schools of Topeka, Kansas. Later he returned to Ohio where he taught in Lebanon, Sabina and the past thirteen years in the public schools of Wilberforce.

Politicians for Revenue only

V. S.

The People

On next Tuesday the Republicans of Greene County nominate their candidate for State Senator.

There are two candidates, C. Edward Tippet of Chillicothe, and G. G. O. Pence of Hillsboro.

Pence has the backing of professional Politicians for Revenue Only, while Tippet is supported by the sentiment of the people.

Among the few backing Pence, is D. C. Pemberton of New Vienna—professional lobbyist—who at one time lobbied for the Ohio Brewers Association; Frank Mauller, Chillicothe, who got his start, managing the wet campaign in Ross County; and Denny Sullivan, gambler, saloon-keeper and politician.

In order to qualify for the support of the above gentlemen you must first have plenty of money, and secondly, you must do as they dictate. They are the kind of men backing Pence; and they are the men who cheated Greene County out of their turn by buying out Pence for another term.

Do the people of Greene County want a State Senator controlled by a professional lobbyist, who will insist on his candidate voting for legislation favorable to special interests he represents, and against the public?

Tippet will owe his success to the rank and file of the Republican party, and his actions as State Senator will be governed by the will of the majority.

Had Greene County a candidate, Tippet would not have filed, which was the understanding he had with L. T. Marshall.

As Tippet was willing to sacrifice his ambition for a Greene County man, this county should show their gratitude by giving a big majority on next Tuesday.

TO MAKE DEBUT ON HOME GROUNDS

The American Legion baseball team, Xenia's entry in the Zig Zag Community League, will make its debut on a home diamond Saturday afternoon when Captain Tucker's aggregation will meet the Bowersville contingent at Washington St. Park. The showing of the locals against the strong Yellow Springs nine last week was a revelation to the fans. The Legion nine, although a new combination, played whirlwind ball in the field, and except for a weakness at the stick, showed up unusually well. At that the Tucker combination scraped nine hits together, enough to win, but inability to bunch them at crucial moments, cut down the effectiveness of their offense.

Bowersville also lost its opening game last week, dropping the first one to Clifton, winners of the pennant in the first half of the league and the battle Saturday will decide which of these clubs will occupy the celler position as the season swings into its second week.

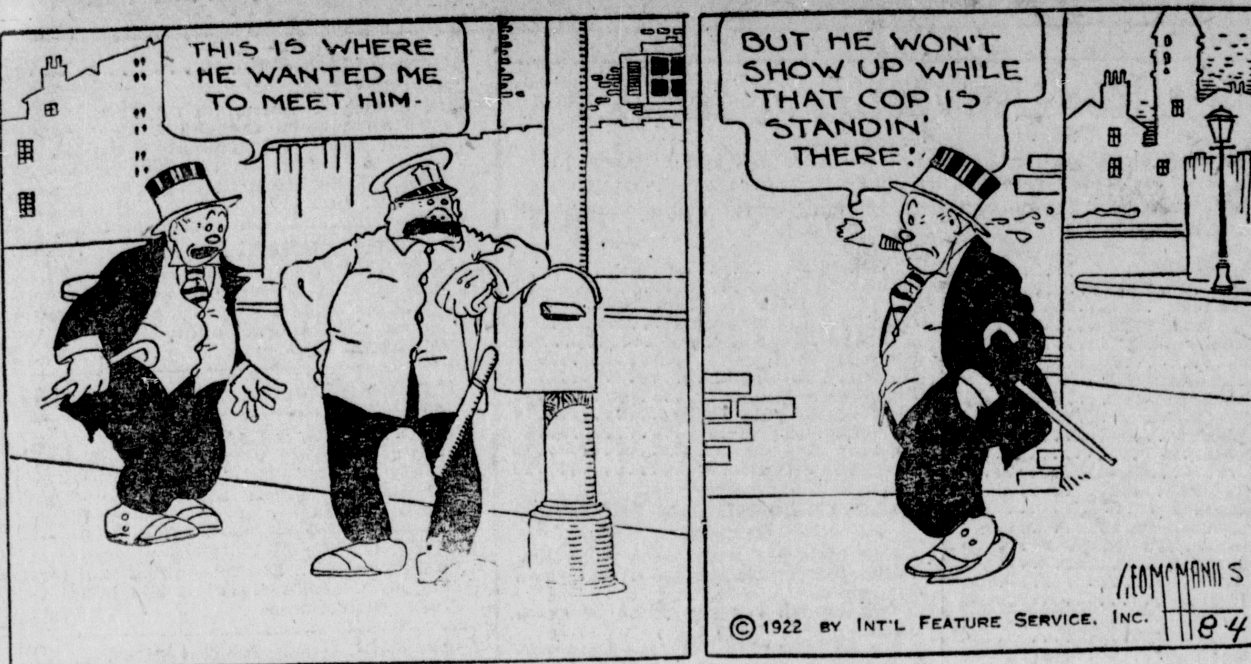

Tucker will use either Regan or Berger in the box Saturday, the latter being an American Legion member, which would make the team entirely American Legion. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

PITCHER WILL BE HERE FOR GAME ON SUNDAY

Manager Roy Bayliff of the Bayliff Electric denied rumors that Jerrett, Waynesville hurler, signed to pitch for the locals Sunday, would not be here, by calling the Warren county pitcher, who promised emphatically that he will be on hand.

Jerret will have a tough nut to crack in his opening game with the electricians as the locals will take on the Dayton Westwoods Sunday, this team having defeated the locals 4 to 1 in a Fourth of July encounter. The local management believes that good pitching is all the club needs to bring it consecutively into the win column, and if Jerrett lives up to the expectations, it is believed the electricians should breeze through the remainder of the season easily.

The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

BEAUTY CHATS

... AVOIDING FRECKLES ... Most freckle lotions contain one of two powerful ingredients, either corrosive sublimate or bichloride of mercury. These are very effective bleaches and properly combined with other ingredients they will make the skin fine and white. These lotions, however, are difficult to make and dangerous to experiment with, for if any mistake were made the lotion might be too strong and the skin burnt or injured. That is why I advocate avoiding freckles, it is easier to avoid than to cure them.

Therefore, if you freckle easily and mind it, protect yourself with wide brimmed dark colored hats or carry a parasol on sunny days. It takes away a great deal from the easy enjoyment of life, but that unfortunately cannot be helped.

There are mild bleaches which we all know will cure freckles, buttermilk, which can be rubbed into the skin and left to dry on, lemon juice which must be softened with rose water, cucumber juice which can be used full strength and is easy to make, honey which is bleaching but so sticky it must be combined with other ingredients, almonds which are also bleaching and ideal when combined with honey and even a lotion made from the common garden parsley.

If the skin is well rubbed with cold cream and liberally powdered it is not apt to freckle when exposed to ordinary sun and wind. But if the skin has been so exposed an excellent precaution to prevent freckling is to bath the face for 10 or 15 minutes in water as hot as can be borne, followed up by a cold cream massage. After this apply some freckle bleaching lotion. A teaspoonful of horse radish scraped into a cup of sour milk is a marvellous bleach. It should stand six hours before being used.

Puzzled:—When the hair becomes too oily and it is not time for the shampoo, there are a number of ways to clear it of this excessive secretion. One method is to dust any fine powder through it leaving it only long enough to absorb some of the oil, after which shake it all out again. Another method is to separate the hair into strands and wipe the oil out using soft towels the same as if you were drying the hair after a shampoo.

Edna:—The pink spot following a boil will bleach off without any help, as Nature has already healed the trouble and will set about restoring the outer skin to its normal texture. It will take time but it is best to wait since the new skin is very sensitive and easily irritated.

A Stenographer's Romance

BY JANE PHELPS

A SUCCESSFUL QUEST Chapter 35

Saturday afternoon and all Sunday morning the three girls hunted for a flat that would meet their requirements. Cora had written down on a piece of paper the most necessary items, and held the other two, whose enthusiasm was apt to lead them away, to them:

"Near the subway; three rooms; no, over $35 rent; in fair condition, and there must be a bath and kitchen stove."

They found several nearly corresponding to what they wanted, but Cora was determined and would listen to nothing that went over her estimate in rent; or that lacked the other essentials.

They were almost ready to give up in despair, when Nellie said:

"There's two more on this list that last agent gave you, Cora. Don't let's give up until we've seen them."

Tired as they were the other two agreed and the very next one they looked at with about what they wanted. The janitor, a pleasant faced Irishman with a suspiciously red nose told them the landlord would paper one room, and do a little painting for good tenants.

"Shure, it's the whole place he'll be don't over for us then!" Nellie said in a brogue as thick as the janitor's own.

"It's from ould Ireland yees are,

Miss?" he said pleased.

"Do I spake loike a Frenchman?" Nellie asked, winking at him.

"Have yees references?"

"Of course we have! It is the loikes of me would be asking you to rent us a flat without them?" Nellie returned. Cora and Gladys were convulsed, but so far had let Nellie do the talking. Now Cora said:

"We had made up our minds not to pay over $25, Mr. Dugan. You say this is $36."

"Yes, Miss and cheap at that. It's me that'll be seeing you has hot water for your bathtub and all that. I likes my rooms full, I does."

Carefully, the girls went over the place, Nellie using all the blarney she could think of on the red nosed janitor. The rooms were up three flights of stairs but not very long ones as the ceilings were low. The front room was fair size and looked out upon the street. It faced South, which pleased Cora. That room the owner would paper, and perhaps paint, although the kitchen needed painting far more and if he would do but one room it must be the kitchen. The apartment consisted of a fair sized bedroom, the kitchen, a small bathroom, and two really good clothes closets. There were two or three boxes in the rooms, although they were scrupulously clean as far as any other rubbish was concerned.

"Be sure you leave those boxes

here," Gladys said "until we decide. We might need them."

"All right, Miss" Dugan put them in the larger closet. "They'll all be safe there, Miss."

"Our chairs!" Gladys whispered in an aside to Cora.

"Can you give us the refusal—save the rooms for us until tomorrow night?" Cora asked. "We can't come up during the day. We are all working girls."

"Shure I will, Miss. I won't let no one see them," he looked at Nellie and chuckled. "It's me that will be glad to have the colleen from ould Ireland in here."

"And it's me that will be pleased to be here, Mr. Dugan," Nellie said so seriously, her eyes dancing, that Gladys and Cora scarcely could keep a straight face.

They stayed in the rooms for half an hour after Dugan had been called away, planning where they could put beds, where the couch in the living room should be placed and so on.

"We're going to be awfully disappointed if we don't get it," Gladys said with a long sigh.

"Shure, we'll get it," Nellie laughed.

"You little fraud making that old Irishman think you were as Irish as he."

"Why not! That's what Cora calls tact. Isn't it, Cora?"

TO MAKE DEBUT ON HOME GROUNDS

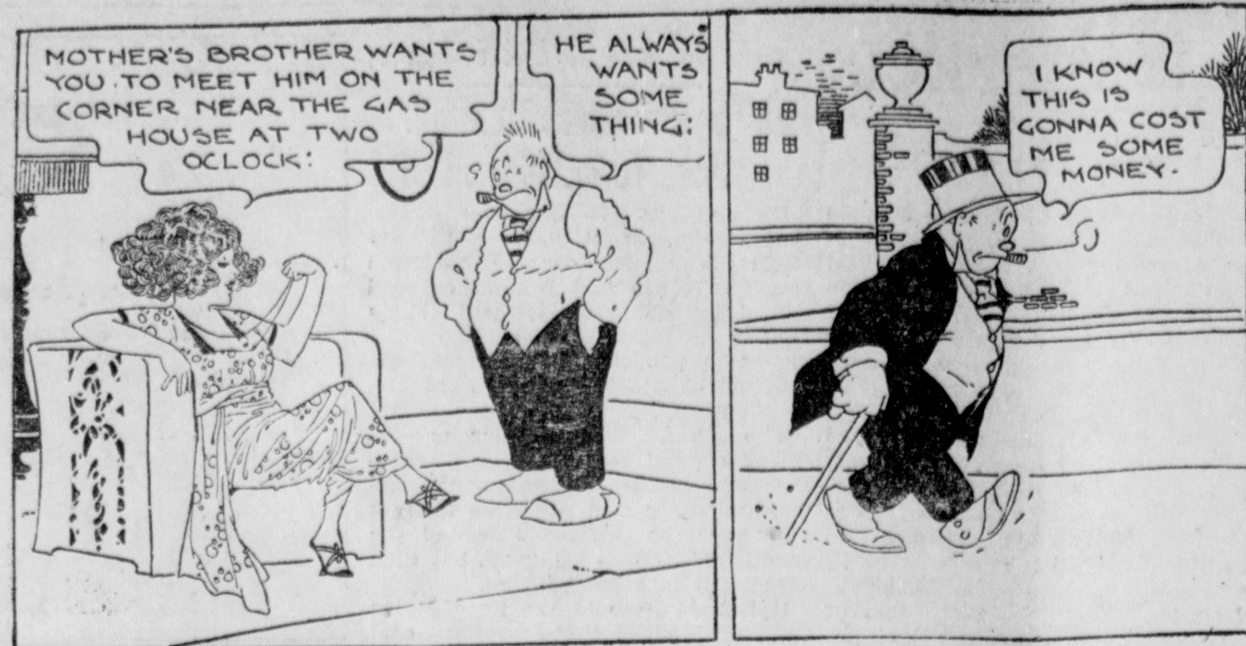

The American Legion baseball team, Xenia's, entry in the Zig Zag Community League, will make its debut on a home diamond Saturday afternoon when Captain Tucker's aggregation will meet the Bowersville contingent at Washington St. Park.

The showing of the locals against the strong Yellow Springs nine last week was a revelation to the fans. The Legion nine, although a new combination, played whirlwind ball in the field, and except for a weakness at the stick, showed up unusually well. At that the Tucker combination scraped nine hits together, enough to win, but inability to bunch them at crucial moments, cut down the effectiveness of their offense.

Bowersville also lost its opening game last week, dropping the first one to Clifton, winners of the pennant in the first half of the league and the battle Saturday will decide which of these clubs will occupy the cellar position as the season swings into its second week.

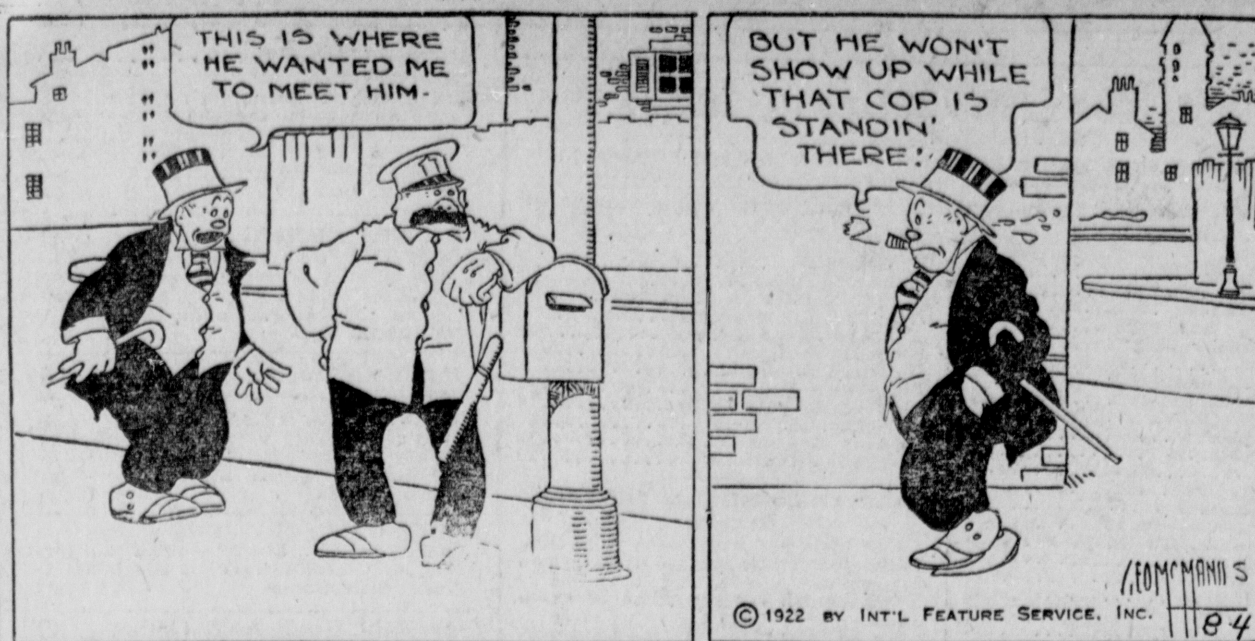

Tucker will use either Regan or Berger in the box Saturday, the latter being an American Legion member, which would make the team entirely American Legion. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

PITCHER WILL BE HERE FOR GAME ON SUNDAY

Manager Roy Bayliff of the Bayliff Electricians denied rumors that Jerrett, Waynesville hurler, signed to pitch for the locals Sunday, would not be here, by calling the Warren county pitcher, who promised emphatically that he will be on hand.

Jerrett will have a tough nut to crack in his opening game with the electricians as the locals will take on the Dayton Westwoods Sunday, this team having defeated the locals 4 to 1 in a Fourth of July encounter. The local management believes that good pitching is all the club needs to bring it consecutively into the win column, and if Jerrett lives up to the expectations, it is believed the electricians should breeze through the remainder of the season easily.

The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

BEAUTY CHATS

... AVOIDING FRECKLES ...

Most freckle lotions contain one of two powerful ingredients, either corrosive sublimate or bichloride of mercury. These are very effective bleaches and properly combined with other ingredients they will make the skin fine and white. These lotions, however, are difficult to make and dangerous to experiment with, for if any mistake were made the lotion might be too strong and the skin burnt or injured. That is why I advocate avoiding freckles, it is easier to avoid than to cure them.

Therefore, if you freckle easily and mind it, protect yourself with wide brimmed dark colored hats or carry a parasol on sunny days. It takes away a great deal from the easy enjoyment of life, but that unfortunately cannot be helped.

There are mild bleaches which we all know will cure freckles, buttermilk, which can be rubbed into the skin and left to dry on, lemon juice which must be softened with rose water, cucumber juice which can be used full strength and is easy to make, honey which is bleaching but so sticky it must be combined with other ingredients, almonds which are also bleaching and ideal when combined with honey and even a lotion made from the common garden parsley.

If the skin is well rubbed with cold cream and liberally powdered it is not apt to freckle when exposed to ordinary sun and wind. But if the skin has been so exposed an excellent precaution to prevent freckling is to bath the face for 10 or 15 minutes in water as hot as can be borne, followed up by a cold cream massage. After this apply some freckle bleaching lotion. A teaspoonful of horse radish scraped into a cup of sour milk is a marvellous bleach. It should stand six hours before being used.

Puzzled:—When the hair becomes too oily and it is not time for the shampoo, there are a number of ways to clear it of this excessive secretion. One method is to dust any fine powder through it leaving it only long enough to absorb some of the oil, after which shake it all out again. Another method is to separate the hair into strands and wipe the oil out using soft towels the same as if you were drying the hair after a shampoo.

Edna:—The pink spot following a boil will bleach off without any help, as Nature has already healed the trouble and will see about restoring the outer skin to its normal texture. It will take time but it is best to wait since the new skin is very sensitive and easily irritated.

A Stenographer's Romance

BY JANE PHELPS

A SUCCESSFUL QUEST Chapter 35

Saturday afternoon and all Sunday morning the three girls hunted for a flat that would meet their requirements. Cora had written down on a piece of paper the most necessary items, and held the other two, whose enthusiasm was apt to lead them away, to them:

"Near the subway; three rooms; no, over $35 rent; in fair condition, and there must be a bath and kitchen stove." They found several nearly corresponding to what they wanted, but Cora was determined and would listen to nothing that went over her estimate in rent; or that lacked the other essentials.

They were almost ready to give up in despair, when Nellie said: "There's two more on this list that last agent gave you, Cora. Don't let's give up until we've seen them."

Tired as they were the other two agreed and the very next one they looked at with about what they wanted. The janitor, a pleasant faced Irishman with a suspiciously red nose told them the landlord would paper one room, and do a little painting for good tenants.

"Shure, it's the whole place he'll be don't' over for us then!" Nellie said in a brogue as thick as the janitor's own.

"It's from ould Ireland yees are,

Miss?" he said pleased. "Do I spake loike a Frenchman?" Nellie asked, winking at him. "Have yees references?"

"Of course we have! It is the loikes of me would be asking you to rent us a flat without them?" Nellie returned. Cora and Gladys were convulsed, but so far had let Nellie do the talking. Now Cora said:

"We had made up our minds not to pay over $35, Mr. Dugan. You say this is $36."

"Yes, Miss and cheap at that. It's me that'll be seein' you has hot water for your bathtub and all that. I likes my rooms full, I does."

Carefully, the girls went over the place, Nellie using all the blarney she could think of on the red nosed janitor. The rooms were up three flights of stairs but not very long ones as the ceilings were low. The front room was fair size and looked out upon the street. It faced South, which pleased Cora. That room the owner would paper, and perhaps paint, although the kitchen needed painting far more and if he would do but one room it must be the kitchen. The apartment consisted of a fair sized bedroom, the kitchen, a small bathroom, and two really good clothes closets. There were two or three boxes in the rooms, although they were scrupulously clean as far as any other rubbish was concerned.

"Be sure you leave those boxes

here," Gladys said "until we decide. We might need them."

"All right, Miss" Dugan put them in the larger closet. "They'll all be safe there, Miss."

"Our chairs!" Gladys whispered in an aside to Cora.

"Can you give us the refusal—save the rooms for us until tomorrow night?" Cora asked. "We can't come up during the day. We are all working girls."

"Shure I will, Miss. I won't let no one see them," he looked at Nellie and chuckled. "It's me that will be glad to have the colleen from ould Ireland in here."

"And it's me that will be pleased to be here, Mr. Dugan," Nellie said so seriously, her eyes dancing, that Gladys and Cora scarcely could keep a straight face.

They stayed in the rooms for half an hour after Dugan had been called away, planning where they could put beds, where the couch in the living room should be placed and so on.

"We're going to be awfully disappointed if we don't get it," Gladys said with a long sigh.

"Shure, we'll get it!" Nellie laughed.

"You little fraud making that old Irishman think you were as Irish as he."

"Why not! That's what Cora calls tact. Isn't it, Cora?"
